DREAD CHILD DISEASE NOT AS FATAL AS PUBLIC SUPPOSED

DR. SIMON FLEXNER TELLS MEN GATHERED TO FIGHT INFANTILE PARALYSIS THAT THERE IS NO OCCASION FOR PANIC, ALTHOUGH NO CURE DISCOVERED.

ISOLATION BEST PROTECTION

Extent to Which Recovery May Occur Very Great and Susceptibility Lower Than in Measles, Scarlet Fever or Diphtheria—Origin in Secretions of Nose, Throat and Intestines.

New York, July 13.—Leaders in the medical profession, public health experts from many cities, philanthropists and charity workers gathered in the rooms of the Academy of Medicine here tonight to attend a mass meeting for the discussion of infantile paralysis—the plague which has brought death to hundreds of homes here in the last few weeks.

Those who hoped that a cure for the disease would be heralded or that isolation of its deadly germ would be announced were disappointed. Dr. Simon Flexner of the Rockefeller institute for medical research and other experts told of the progress made by medical science in combating the disease, but they had no epoch-making discoveries to proclaim. Dr. Flexner declared, however, there is no occasion for panic.

Artificial respiration was suggested by Dr. Louis C. Ager as one method of treatment.

FATALITIES NUMBER ONLY 308.

Dr. Haven Emerson, health commissioner of this city, said that out of 2,600 suspected cases investigated only 1,640 true cases of infantile paralysis had been found, of which 308 resulted fatally.

That infantile paralysis is neither so uncertain in origin or fatal or permanent in effect as generally supposed was the assertion made by Dr. Simon Flexner of the Rockefeller institute in a paper read at a mass meeting of physicians here tonight. While the death rate was variously 5 to 25 per cent, this figure is not accurate, as only a small number of cases are actually reported, Dr. Flexner said.

The origin of the disease is in the secretions of the nose, throat and intestines. The chief conveyor is the human being himself, Dr. Flexner said. Flies are known to have carried the infection in some cases, and poultry, pigs, dogs and cats are suspected. Very many cases also have been transmitted by mothers caring for the noses and throats of their children and then carrying the virus either to the other children or to the food, the expert declared.

ISOLATION IS BEST PROTECTION.

Protection can best be gained through the isolation of the disease, even in the earliest stages, and the sanitary control of those coming in contact with it. At present there is no safe method of preventive inoculation, though experiments are being made with the transfer of immunity from a person already made immune by having had the disease.

The extent to which recovery may occur is very great, Dr. Flexner said. In many cases the residue of paralysis may be so small as not to hamper the life activities of the sufferer. In others it may be greatly relieved by suitable orthopedic treatment. What is imperative, Dr. Flexner asserted, is to remember that recovery is a process extending over a long period of time, perhaps even years.

The extent of susceptibility to the disease is relatively small. It is lower than in measles, scarlet fever or diphtheria. The present outbreak is not extraordinary, the expert pointed out, for not since the disease first appeared in 1907 has the country been entirely free from it. Every summer since then has brought some accession of the disease.

Dr. S. J. Meltzer of the Rockefeller institute told the physicians he would advocate the treatment of all cases of infantile paralysis with intra-spinal injections of a solution of adrenalin. His address was interpreted as a real advance in the work to conquer the disease.

HURRICANE SWEEPS OVER CHARLESTON

Charleston, S. C., July 13.—Shipping was tied up in the harbor here tonight by a hurricane which blew at the rate of sixty-four miles an hour and swept great waves across the bay, in our wall. Hundreds of persons hurried here from nearby coast resorts. No damage was reported, however, and it was said there was no loss of life. Regular communication with Sullivan's island, across the bay, was interrupted by the high waves and 450 persons at that resort were brought to Charleston in the tender Cypress and the ferry ordinarily used were unable to combat the waves.

Residents situated along portions of the Battery, particularly the east and south portions, were soaked with spume, and along the water front every precaution was taken by ship-owners to preserve their property. The steamer Lenape, a passenger liner which was due to leave here late today for Jacksonville, was forced to remain in harbor, as was the tug Vigilant, from which two barges were said to have broken loose.

HAS PICTURE TAKEN FOR CAMPAIGN USE

President Wilson.

This is the very latest picture of President Wilson and was taken a few days ago in Washington. It will be seen on campaign posters this summer.

FOREIGN CITIZENS MUST REMAIN LOYAL

PRESIDENT WILSON SAYS AMERICAN BORN SHOULD PRACTICE TRAIT.

Problems of Americanizing Those Born Abroad Discussed in His Speech.

Washington, July 13.—President Wilson today told a citizenship convention here that the American government must insist that foreigners becoming citizens remain loyal, even if they are not pleased with the way things are conducted. Loyalty means nothing, he declared, unless it is coupled with self-sacrifice. He added that Americans cannot teach loyalty unless they practice it.

The president discussed at length the problem of Americanizing foreign-born citizens. His words were enthusiastically applauded by a large gathering of men and women educators interested in the instruction of new citizens, meeting here under the auspices of the naturalization bureau of the labor department.

The president praised the objects of the convention, saying it was not fair to allow multitudes of people from foreign lands to come into this nation without giving them intimate instruction which will show them the objects of Americanization.

NATURAL BORN AMERICANS WARNED.

Natural-born Americans were warned by the president to examine themselves carefully to see whether they have burning in them the true light of America, which they expect to show to these foreigners.

"My interest in this movement," the president said, "is as much an interest in ourselves as in the people whom we wish to Americanize. Unless we are true Americans we cannot infect them with the spirit of Americanism. Unless we ourselves illustrate the ideas of justice and freedom we can teach nothing to those who come to us."

There are just as many cruel and heartless men here as in other lands, he continued, but the object of America should be to put such men in harness and control them.

"We have been disturbed recently by symptoms in the body politic," he added, "which are not healthy. Certain men, not many in number, have thought more of the lands of their birth than of America. They have even gone so far as to draw apart in spirit and organization to such a thing as that is absolutely incompatible with the idea of loyalty."

FOREIGN TRAVEL SUGGESTED AS CURE.

Foreign travel was suggested as the best cure for those inclined to hate too much of the superiority of America.

The president said in part: "We ought to be careful to maintain a government at which the immigrant can look with the closest scrutiny and which he should be at liberty to address this question: 'You declare this to be a land of liberty and of equality and justice; have you made it so by your laws?' We ought to be able in our schools, in our night schools and in every other method of instructing these people to show them that has been our endeavor. We cannot conceal from them long the fact that we are just as human as any other nation; that we are just as selfish; that there are just as many mean people amongst us as there are good people; that there are just as many people here who want to take advantage of other people as you can find in other countries; just as many cruel people, just as many heartless ones when it comes to maintaining and promoting their own interests, as there are in any other nation; that we are not allowed to indulge in the passions which would bring injustice and calamity at last upon a nation whose object is spiritual and not material."

HUNGRY GUARDSMEN RAID MANY CLEVELAND STORES.

Cleveland, July 13.—Seven hundred national guardsmen from eastern Ohio passed through Cleveland left the train today and proceeded to raid nearby stores and commission houses, taking food and merchandise and destroying what they did not carry away. Riot calls were turned in and squads of patrolmen were sent to the scene in police emergency patrols.

The soldiers were driven back to the train by a squad of twenty armed men ordered out by Maj. T. J. Moynahan, commanding the train. Some of the soldiers said they had not eaten in thirty-six hours. The troops belonged to the Sixty-ninth, Seventy-fourth, Twelfth and Twenty-third New York infantry and the First New York field artillery, all from the metropolis, and troop G from Utica, N. Y.

SHARK HUNTERS PATROLING COAST IN MOTOR BOATS

New York, July 13.—Armed shark hunters in motor boats patrolled the New York and New Jersey coasts today while others lined the benches in a concert hall to exterminate the man-eaters, which have moved north from their customary haunts, apparently in large numbers. The village authorities of Matawan, N. J., offered a reward of $100 for every shark brought in, dead or alive.

The belief that a single shark was responsible for the killing of four swimmers in New Jersey waters within the last two weeks in Matawan, a shallow inlet sixteen miles from the open sea, has been dispelled by persons who actually have seen a half dozen or more of the monsters.

One theory is that the sharks which formerly fed on refuse thrown overboard from man-of-war ships before the war began, have now become ravenous. Even those not ordinarily classed as man eaters, it is said, probably have been driven by starvation to lurk in the waters of the Atlantic coast, warm at this season, and attack human beings.

Some of the were seen today in Matawan creek and now are believed to be bottled up there. Nets have been strung across the creek about a mile and a half from the mouth of the inlet. A British sloop arriving from Bermuda was reported tonight to have killed a score of sharks during the voyage, one of them off the New Jersey coast.

Terror has surrounded the multitudes who have bathed in the bays around New York and New Jersey coast and comparatively few persons now venture into the water. At Asbury Park and other places, shark nets have been strung across the bathing areas.

Dr. George B. Reynolds of New York, who attended Fisher, who was killed in a battle with a shark yesterday, performed an autopsy on Fisher's body today. He declared he found the flesh torn by the man-eater's teeth probably was impregnated with a peculiar poisonous liquid which seemed to have had a paralyzing effect on the nerves and muscles. This probably explained, he said, why Fisher apparently had little sensation of pain when he was killed.

Little hope is entertained for the recovery of the body of 12-year-old Lester who was killed in the Matawan creek tragedy. It is believed that he was devoured by the shark, as persistent dragging of the body has failed to bring up the body.

Many conflicting reports were received during the night from various points along the New Jersey and New York coasts regarding the killing of sharks, but only one appears to have any foundation in fact. This was the news brought by Anthony Lundy, captain of a fishing boat, who said he had killed a nine-foot shark weighing 450 pounds while cruising yesterday off Asbury Park.

He said he had killed the fish while he was vainly tried to kill with an oar a seven-foot shark which became entangled in his net. He said the fish tried to strike his boat, apparently intending to overturn it.

England to Pay for Cargo Taken From Wilhelmina

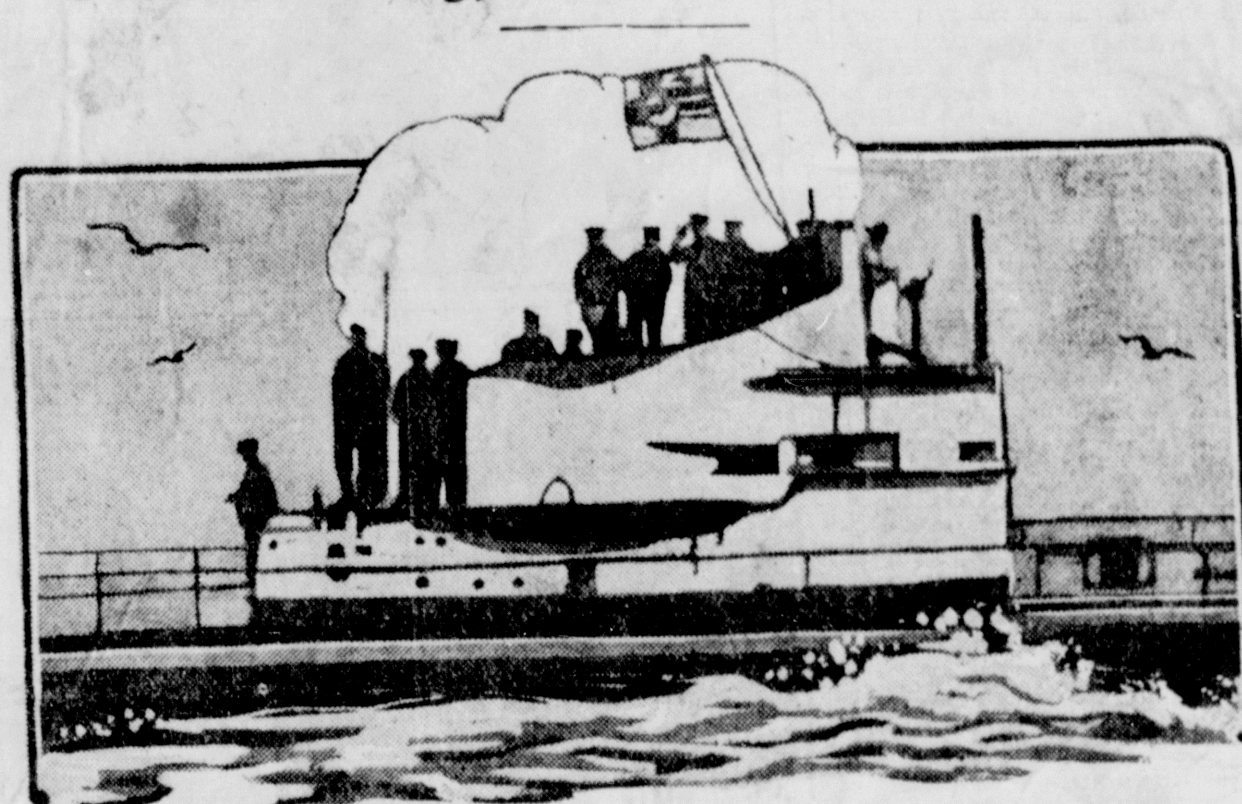

London, July 13.—Viscount Mersey, arbitrator in the case of the cargo of the American steamship Wilhelmina, which was seized and placed in prize court on February 11, 1915, today awarded $299,000 to the W. L. Green commission company of St. Louis, owners of the cargo. This composed virtually the entire amount claimed from the British government by the Green Commission company, which had asked for $5,161 pounds, while the British government offered only 23,142 pounds and twelve shillings as compensation. Interest at the rate of five per cent will be paid from September 15, 1915, to the date of payment of the award.

The cargo of the Wilhelmina consisted of foodstuffs destined to Hamburg for her consignees. When the seizure occurred it was decided to make the case a test case as to the rights of Great Britain to step foodstuffs proceeding to Germany, but the issue of the order in council of March 11, 1915, made the question an academic one. The case was settled by the government taking upon itself to compensate the complainants.

Butcher Shop Tank Explodes; Five Dead

New York, July 13.—Five persons were killed, one is missing and at least thirty others were injured, many seriously, today when an ammonia tank in a Brooklyn butcher shop exploded, completely wrecking a four-story brick building. The victims were crushed under tons of debris. A passing trolley escaped the avalanche of bricks but a dozen passengers aboard were injured, some by shocks and others by flying glass and debris. The dead are: Martin Schmidt, owner of the butcher shop, two clerks, the cashier and a delivery boy.

Zeppelins Will Soon Fly to United States From Germany, Declares Submarine's Captain

Germany's submarine liner.

The German supersubmarine Deutschland is not a warship, says the U. S. government. That means that more vessels of this type probably will soon visit this country.

Baltimore, Md., July 13.—Count von Vernstorff, the German ambassador, spent an hour aboard the German submarine merchantman Deutschland today. He inspected the vessel from stem to stern, had the intricate machinery and instruments aboard explained to him and personally congratulated Captain Koenig upon bringing his vessel safely to America through waters infested with hostile war craft.

Two attaches of the German embassy, the German and Austrian consuls in Baltimore and Mayor Preston accompanied the ambassador on his visit to the submarine. The intense heat inside the hull of the vessel, generated by the sun's rays breaking on the deck and sides prevented the party from remaining aboard longer than an hour.

The ambassador informed Captain Koenig that he would send him before the Deutschland starts on her return voyage several packets of official papers which he desires to have delivered intact to the Berlin foreign office. Some of these documents, embassy officials have been reluctant to trust in the regular mails because it was considered likely they would fall into the hands of British censors.

The ambassador was enthusiastic as he emerged from the conning tower of the Deutschland. "It is a wonderful boat and with a courageous crew as ever sailed the sea, has made a wonderful voyage," said he. "I looked into every compartment and had my first experience with a periscope."

"Captain Koenig did not tell me just when he expects to leave for home, but I presume it will be soon, may be, but his return cargo aboard. He is in complete charge of the vessel and his orders from Berlin. His craft is a private one just as much so as any North German Lloyd liner. My visit was entirely unofficial."

The ambassador, previous to visiting the submarine, attended a luncheon at the Germania club given in honor of Captain Koenig. Tonight he was present at a dinner given by Mayor Preston to the commander of the submarine.

City officials who visited the submarine today noted Captain Koenig's saying that Zeppelin airship freight-ers are being built in Germany for trans-Atlantic service. "To you," Captain Koenig was quoted as saying, "the trip of the Deutschland is a great achievement. You must not be too enthusiastic over it because a bigger ship is coming. A German Zeppelin airship, or maybe I should say airships, are being built in Germany. In the not distant future one or more of them will sail through the air to the United States. Just as sure as the Deutschland came to America, so will the Zeppelins come."

The crew of the Deutschland decided to turn over to the Red Cross fund the $10,000 gift for valor of a New Yorker.

The last case of dyestuffs composing the Deutschland's cargo was lifted out about 9 a. m. The stevedores at once set about making the hold ready for the return cargo of nickel and crude rubber.

Regarding reports of the forming of a company in the United States to construct merchant submarines, Henry G. Hilken of the Eastern Forwarding company, the local agency for the Deutschland, admitted the project is under serious consideration.

"The line, if the line succeeds," said Mr. Hilken, "will consist of American-built ships manned by American seamen and flying the American flag. It will ply between Baltimore and Bremen."

Promoters of the enterprise, Mr. Hilken said, consisted for the present of himself, his son, Paul H. L. Hilken, and Simon Lake, submarine inventor. The vessels will have a tonnage of 5,000 tons and will be five times as large as the Deutschland. Mr. Hilken added, "They will be used entirely for commercial purposes."

Sits in President's Chair.

Washington, July 13.—Six seamen from the German submarine merchantman Deutschland came over from Baltimore today and were entertained at the white house and the navy department. A white house attaché showed them through the east, blue and red rooms, the cabinet room and President Wilson's private office.

One of the youngsters asked permission to sit in the president's chair at the head of the cabinet table and he did it while his comrades grinned. All were much interested in the war maps showing the positions of the submarine in Europe and pointed with pride to the names of their home towns in Germany.

At the navy department Assistant Secretary Roosevelt received the visitors and congratulated them in German upon their voyage. They inspected historic naval relics in Secretary Daniels' office, including the flag of the ill-fated submarine F-4 which sank with twenty men.

No Final Decision Yet.

Washington, July 13.—Reports of customs and navy officers on the character of the German submarine Deutschland were the subjects of a long conference at the state department today between Acting Secretary Polk and members of the government's neutral board, called to give informal advice.

The final decision on the status of the submarine probably will be announced after tomorrow's cabinet meeting. The government officials generally asserted that no legal action can be raised against granting all the privileges of a peaceful merchantman to the Deutschland.

San Antonio Gets Mystic Shrine Temple

Buffalo, N. Y., July 13.—James C. Burger of Denver was elected outer guard, the first stepping stone to the highest office in the order, at the closing session of the forty-second annual meeting of the imperial council, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine here today. There was local competition for the honor.

Minneapolis was selected as the meeting place for 1917. All the imperial officers advanced one station, according to custom, except the secretary and the treasurer, respectively, William S. Brown of Pittsburgh and Henry N. Howell of Boston, who were re-elected. Henry N. Niedringhaus of St. Louis became imperial potentate.

The only temple to get a charter was Alaskan of San Antonio. An application for a charter for the Panama canal zone was refused. Rain prevented the competitive drills of Arab patrols this afternoon.

Heavy Casualty List.

London, July 13.—The heavy prices that the allies are paying for their success on the western front is shown in the British casualty list issued in London tonight. These lists give the names of 425 officers, 99 of whom were killed.

The last casualty list of British officers issued for the Somme sector was published on July 11. It contained 73 names.

ALLIES NOW HAVE BIG ADVANTAGE IN PLentiful SUPPLIES

DAVID LOYD-GEORGE TELLS CONFERENCE ON EQUIPMENT THAT NEW FACTORIES AND WORKSHOPS HAVE NOT YET ATTAINED ONE-THIRD FULL CAPACITY.

TAKE INITIATIVE FROM GERMANS

Important Movement Forecast on Russian Front—Heavy Fighting Still in Progress on Somme—Cologne Gazette Intimates Butter, Fat and Egg Cards May Come Soon.

London, July 13, 8:05 p. m.—David Lloyd George, British minister of war, presiding today at an entente allied conference on equipment, declared that the combined offensive of the allies wrenched the initiative from the Germans, never, he trusted, to return.

"We have crossed the watershed," he said, "and now victory is beginning to flow in our direction. This change is due to the improvement in our equipment."

The conference was held at the war office and was participated in by Albert Thomas, French minister of munitions; General Belfrage, assistant minister of war of Russia; General A. Dail 'Olo, member of the Italian ministry of war, and the new British minister of munitions, Edward S. Montague.

"Since our last munitions conference," said Mr. Lloyd-George, "there has been a considerable change in the fortunes of the allies."

"Why have our prospects improved?" The answer is the equipment of our armies has improved enormously and is continuing to improve.

"The British navy until recently has absorbed more than half the metal workers in this country. The fact of building new ships and repairing the old ones for the gigantic navy and fitting and equipping them occupied the energies of a million men. Most of our new factories have been set up. Hundreds of thousands of men and women hitherto unaccustomed to metal and chemical work have been trained for munitions making. In every month we are turning out hundreds of guns and howitzers, light, medium and heavy. Our heavy guns are rolling in at a great rate and are turning out nearly twice as much ammunition in a single week—and what is more, nearly three times as much heavy shell—as we fired for the great offensive in September last."

Though the allies' offensive in the battle of the Somme was not complete, that battle was the result of many weary weeks' accumulation. The new factories and work shops we set up have not yet attained one-third of full capacity, but their output is now increasing with great rapidity. If officials, employers and workmen kept at it with the same zeal and assiduity as they have hitherto shown, our supplies will soon be overwhelming."

"I cannot help but think that the improvement in the Russian ammunition has been one of the greatest and most unpleasant surprises of the war. It is a war of equipment. More ammunition means more victories and fewer casualties."

War News Scanty.

London, July 13, 11:40 p. m.—There was very little news today of the battle of the Somme. The only noteworthy item to describe the new co-ordinated entente allied offensive on all fronts. But the British official statement tonight shows that heavy infantry and artillery fighting has been in progress and has enabled the British to maintain their pressure on the Germans and advance their line at various points.

The British forces at Mametz Wood are within three hundred yards of the German second line. The French forces are separated by the narrow Somme valley from the German third line. The British are now in position to maintain their pressure on the Germans and advance their line at various points.

Two important statements in regard to the situation on the western front were made in London on Thursday. Premier Asquith, speaking in the house of lords, declared that the British supply of munitions was ample and that the French supply was also ample. The second statement was made by Minister of War Lloyd-George, addressing an allied conference on equipment. The minister of ammunition will soon be overwhelming and that the new factories and workshops have not yet attained one-third their full capacity. He asserted that the title of victory now is flowing in the direction of the entente allies and predicted that it would continue to do so.

Major Morant, in the Berlin 'Tabelle' expressed the opinion that the coming days will be decisive of the issues of the whole war.

The reticence of the Russian official communications at the present moment, judging by precedent, indicates that the title of victory now is flowing in the direction of the entente movement which will only be announced when the operations are concluded. The Austrian and German reports show that General von Rother is still holding on in the region of Tarnopol, although the two wings of the Russian advance are forty miles beyond Tarnopol, which seems to show that Von Rother feels secure in his position of retreat. Heavy fighting continues on the Stokhod line and north-west of Buczac.

The Cologne Gazette forebodes the introduction of the title of victory in the empire, providing for three ounces a head each week, and probably an egg card, entitling the holder to two eggs a week.

"This process of Americanism is going to be a process of purification, a process of re-education to the citizens which America represents and is proud to represent. And it takes a great deal more courage and steadfastness, my fellow citizens, to represent ideal things than to represent anything else. It is easy to lose your temper and hard to keep it. It is easy to strike and sometimes very difficult to refrain from striking and I think you will agree with me that we are most justified in being proud of doing the things that are hard to do and not the things that are easy. You may make the complication just that much more profound and inexcusable and therefore what I believe a man should do above everything else is the sovereignty of thoughtfulness and sympathy of vision as against the selfish impulses of mankind. No nation can live without vision and no vision will exalt a nation except vision of real liberty and real justice and purity of conduct."

AMERICAN CONSULS NOT YET SENT BACK

WASHINGTON FEARS REFUGEES
WOULD FOLLOW OFFICIALS INTO MEXICO.

Efforts Being Made to Restore Commerce to Normal Conditions.

Washington, July 13.—Probability that Americans who have left Mexico would immediately return if United States consuls now on the border were ordered to their posts in the interior was given at the state department today as one of the reasons for the delay in returning the consuls. The department has not changed its belief that presence of Americans in Mexico is most undesirable and on that account will not send the consuls back, although it is believed that in sections conditions have become so settled that the consular officials might be of considerable service.

Authority for the state department to permit restoration to normal movements into Mexico of all commodities except munitions of war was asked today by the treasury department. Shipments of clothing and food are already being passed freely by the customs and military, but large quantities of freight, chiefly lumber and coal, have accumulated along the border. Virtually a complete embargo against exports into Mexico was imposed with the formal proclamation when the United States and the Carranza government reached such a stage that seemed unavoidable. Now that friendly diplomatic negotiations are in progress many officials regard it as an unnecessary hardship both on Mexican and American interests to prevent shipments other than war supplies.

Former Ranger Is Released on Bond

Laredo, Texas, July 13.—Thomas Ross, agent of the department of justice and former Texas ranger captain, was released in a nominal bond today after a preliminary hearing of charges of murder in connection with the death of Jess M. Mosely, a negro physician, holding commission as major in the Carranza army. The case comes up at the next term of district court, probably in September. Ross entered a formal plea of not guilty.

Mosely recently was arrested here charged with violation of neutrality laws in recruiting negroes for service in the Carranza army. He was released July 3. It was charged, in custody of Ross. Mosely's body was found near here early this week. Ross was arrested on a murder charge preferred by Constable Zanatta. Ross declined to make a statement.

General Bliss Visits Funston

San Antonio, Texas, July 13.—Gen. Tasker H. Bliss, assistant chief of staff, arrived here tonight. He was met by General Funston and taken to his quarters, where the two conferred until late regarding troop disposition here in the state of the national guard. General Bliss refused to discuss the character of his mission other than to study the militia. General Bliss will make a careful inspection of the camps, where guardsmen are concentrated in large numbers. He expects to leave here in a few days for Brownsville. He was accompanied here by Lieutenant Colonel McNair, who has been made a brigadier general of the New York national guard and Major Dennis Nolan. General Bliss denied that he would superintend the organization of tactical units, adding, "That all belongs to General Funston."

Submarines Busy Again.
London, July 13.—Following the attack by a German submarine on the British port of Seaboard harbor Tuesday night, a submarine raid on fishing boats near the English coast was reported by Lloyd's today. A German submarine attacked a British fishing fleet off the northeastern coast and sank the trawlers Florence and Dalhouse and several smaller vessels.

Three Killed at Buffalo.
Buffalo, July 13.—Three laborers were killed and five seriously injured in the collapse of a superstructure surrounding a new building at the plant of the Senet Solvay company on the Niagara river coast near here today. Several men reported missing were subsequently located.

LIGHTNING BRINGS NEW YORK SOCIETY WOMEN TO KNEES

New York, July 13.—More than a score of society women, including Mrs. Oscar Lewisohn, formerly Edna May, the social wife of the president of the club, died in the grounds of a golf club at Great Neck, L. I., late today, when a violent lightning storm struck the club house. The bodies of the women in the party fell on their knees and died.

The Great Neck tragedy occurred while Mrs. Lewisohn and Mrs. Charles H. Goddard, wife of the president of the club, were engaged in an exciting game. They were negotiating for position, when a bolt of lightning struck the clubhouse, holding the women in the room and fell on the roof.

Three other persons were killed by lightning and much property damage was caused by a violent thunderstorm, accompanied by a sixty-mile gale from the west, which swept this city and the New York and its environs were in the grip of the heat wave when the storm broke. Two persons, a man and a woman, died in Brooklyn, and there were many prostrations.

Christian Endeavor Societies of South Meet in Atlanta

Atlanta, Ga., July 13.—Delegates to the All South Christian Endeavor convention, representing nearly all states south of Mason and Dixon's line, were formally welcomed to Atlanta at the opening session of the convention here tonight. The convention of the Christian Endeavor societies of the union is an outgrowth of unsuccessful efforts made last year at Chicago to form a southern union separate from the national organization and it was expected the matter might be brought up during this convention.

It was announced that 675 new societies have been organized in the south, with a total membership of approximately 25,000.

Chief among the speakers tonight was E. P. Gates, field secretary of the Illinois Christian Endeavor union, who spoke on "The Christian Endeavor Attitude."

Senate Discussing Big Naval Bill

Washington, July 13.—The senate today began discussion of the $315,000,000 naval bill, the largest naval appropriation measure by many millions in the nation's history. The bill provides for an increase of nearly $50,000,000 over its total as it passed the house. Senate leaders emphasized their intention of expediting its consideration and little opposition arose to the committee amendments presented.

An indication that the senate is in sympathy with the liberal increases written into the bill by the senate naval committee was seen in the approval without opposition of a section increasing the enlisted strength of the navy from the present 54,000 to 68,700 and 6000 apprentice seamen. The house bill provided for an increase to only 61,600 men.

When the personnel section was reached, Senator Norris asked for an explanation of its purpose. Senator Swanson, in charge of the measure, replied that the section as drafted followed the recommendations of the navy general board and would give only a sufficient personnel to man the best battleships and cruisers and a complement for vessels in reserve. Senator Lodge, ranking republican member of the naval committee, also declared the increase imperative.

The only committee recommendation which met determined opposition today was one providing for a commission to report on the advisability of establishing at least one more naval academy. The senate sustained the committee 23 to 17.

Senator Freelan urged that the growing importance of the west generally and the Pacific waters, particularly from a naval standpoint, made the establishment of a west coast academy desirable.

Pershing Reports More Friendliness

Washington, July 13.—Gen. Pershing reported today that it was generally believed by both Mexicans and foreigners along the line of communication of his expedition that a crisis between the United States and Mexico had been averted and that this had brought about a new friendly relationship between the Americans and Mexicans.

The rainy season is on in earnest, General Pershing says, heavy rains being reported from the various stations along the line during the last few days.

Roosevelt Abandons Plan.
New York, July 13.—Col. Theodore Roosevelt has abandoned for the present at least his plan to raise a division of volunteer troops, according to an announcement tonight by Regis H. Post, former governor of Porto Rico, who has had charge of recruiting. Mr. Post said the plan had been dropped as war seems unlikely.

HOW TO REDUCE YOUR WEIGHT

A SIMPLE, SAFE, RELIABLE WAY.

People who are overburdened with superfluous fat, know only too well the discomfort and ridicule that over-stout people have to bear.

There is no need of anyone suffering from superfluous fat. If you want to reduce your weight in a simple, safe and reliable way, without starvation diet or tiresome exercise, here is a test worth trying. Spend as much time as you can in the open air, breathe deeply and get from Morrison's Old Corner Drug Store or any good druggist a box of oil of korein capsules; take one after each meal and one before retiring at night.

Oil of korein is absolutely harmless, is pleasant to take, and helps digestion. Even a few days' treatment has been reported to show a noticeable reduction in weight, footprints become lighter, your work seems easier and lighter and more buoyant feeling takes possession of your whole being.

Every person who suffers from superfluous fat should give this treatment a trial.

CLEVELAND JURIST MAY SUCCEED HUGHES

Washington, July 13.—President Wilson has narrowed the list of men he is considering for appointment to the supreme court to J. H. Clarke of Cleveland, federal district judge, and Victor J. Dowling, judge of the New York supreme court. He will make a selection within a few days and it was indicated tonight that Judge Clarke probably would be given the place.

Illinois Guards on Strike Duty

Springfield, Ill., July 13.—Five companies of the Sixth infantry, Illinois national guard tonight were at LaSalle and Oglesby, Ill., or rushing there to assist in suppressing acts of violence among the 1,200 cement workers who have been on strike for nine weeks. Governor Dunne said tonight he would go to LaSalle tomorrow "to get first-hand information of the situation and hand information of the situation and everything possible toward settling the strike." The situation in the strike area was reported quiet tonight.

Jeffrey Company Sold.
Kenosha, Wis., July 13.—The entire stock of the Thomas B. Jeffrey company, with a capital of three million dollars, was sold today to Lee Higginson & Co. of Boston and Jeffrey W. Nash of Flint, Mich. The Jeffrey company is one of the largest makers of motor trucks and pleasure automobiles in the United States. The price was not announced. Mr. Nash is the president of the General Motors company, but it was announced he would retire August 1, to come here to take charge of the Jeffrey plant.

Naval Militia to Cruise.
Norfolk, Va., July 13.—Announcement was made at the navy yard tonight that the battleship Louisiana will put to sea late tomorrow with the naval militia of Louisiana, Florida, Texas and North Carolina aboard for a ten days' practice cruise. Some of the naval militia already have arrived here and the remainder were expected tomorrow morning.

Diamond Robbery in Montreal.
Montreal, Quebec, July 13.—Mrs. E. R. Thomas, wife of a New York banker and newspaper owner, was robbed of a diamond necklace valued at $18,000 and $700 in cash here today, according to the police. She reported that the bag containing the valuables was snatched by a thief after she had left her hotel for a stroll.

Anti-Carranza Feeling.
Douglas, Ariz., July 13.—A strong anti-Carranza faction is forming in Sonora, according to persons arriving here today from the south. The action is attributed to dissatisfaction with the action of the first chief in recent diplomatic negotiations with the United States.

Nicaraguan Leader Dies.
San Juan Del Sur, Nicaragua, July 13.—Dr. Adam Cardenas, head of the conservative party and president of Nicaragua from 1882 to 1888, died here today.

THE DUTY TO DO.

Negotiations are pending between the state department and Carranza for the appointment of commissioners to adjust differences and arrange for a future course of action in relation to the border.

This foreshadows another conference
similar to the one held at El Paso between Obregon and Scott, and there is little reason to expect that it will yield any better result. Those who are familiar with the Mexican way will easily perceive in these negotiations a cunning scheme on the part of the de facto government for indefinite delay.
It is hard to resist the opinion that the Washington authorities have been overreached and that they do not un derstand Mexican character or meth ods.

It will be a great mistake on the part of our government to encourage the view already too strongly enter tained by Mexican leaders that this country is not in earnest, that it fears to fight, and that it can easily be bluffed and bamboozled. The result of this sentiment is that for years the position of Americans in Mexico has been unpleasant and hazardous. In many instances, in order to secure civil rights, they have been compelled to feign to be citizens of other coun tries.

The time has come to end the an archy that exists in Mexico, and that has existed there since the fall of Diaz; that had, in fact, manifested itself long before he fell. The sugges tion that our only concern is for the border will not meet the approval of this country, or any considerable part of it.

Somebody at Washington evidently is misleading the president. His real friends, and the friends of the democ ratic party, would not have it em bark on a chicken-hearted program that will only add contempt to the hate already felt by the ignorant masses of Mexico for everything American, but will bring just reproach and humili ation upon us, among all the nations of the world.

If this country lacks the virility and the courage to assert the rights of its citizens to enter an adjoining land and follow legitimate pursuits without be ing plundered and killed, why should any nation accord them that privilege?

The United States is now on trial before the world, in its dealings with Mexico. Its duty is no less to act a manly part than to act an honest part.
That we refrain from injustice will not excuse either cowardice or senility. A nation's duty, as well as the individual duty, is to do, and it does not conform to either God's law or man's law mere ly to refrain from stealing.

DAILY SHORT STORY.

HER FIRST STORY.

By SUSAN E. CLAGETT.

Copyright, 1916, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

On the three-story porch the porch man was the only one who noticed her coming across the grass. Petite in figure, with wavy brown hair and even teeth matched, she looked like a girl as she stepped down the lower step. In reality she was a woman of thirty or more, and the two were old acquaint ances. He remembered perfectly the day she came to his office, a mere slip of a thing with great frightened eyes, the color coming and going in her face, and her vain attempt to steady her quivering lips.

He thought of it now as he watched her. Listening to the conversation of her friends, a little smile playing about her mouth. They were talking about her and her work and when one said, "Her story made a hit from the first. I do not believe she ever had a manuscript returned," she threw back her head and laughed.

"Much you know about it, Mary. Mr.
Isaham—with a nod toward the man—
"Can tell you in a dozen words about my first story than you can guess in a dozen years."

"What can he know about it?" her friend asked. "You met him here for the first time this summer."

"No. You thought so and I did not understand you. We met years and years ago." Sarah Lewis threw a smiling glance toward the man in the magnificent chair. "He read my first story.
To be exact, I should say he looked at
it. He didn't read it."

David Isaham leaned forward and knock ed the ashes from his pipe. As he refilled it he said:
"It did not deserve consideration."

"There is where we differ," she re plied lightly. "I think it the best one I have ever written. It lacked literary polish, but the story was there and it was good. I never told you about it, turning towards her friends. "Indeed,
there is nothing to tell, but it was my first real disappointment and as such made a lasting impression upon me.
Later on I had a good many. Rejection slips came more frequently than checks
during those first years, yet to this day I never send off a manuscript but I think of the story I carried to Blank's magazine with my heart in my throat."

"By some good or evil fortune, I had secured an interview with the editor.
As I entered his office, he had his back to me. I did not look formidable and for an instant I was free from nervousness. Then he turned and my hopes went into my shoes. His eyes glanced right through me and it required
all my courage to hand him the manu script."

try is, we believe, well expressed by the Houston Chronicle:

"The Chronicle cannot help believing that Washington does not understand the attitude of the people of the South west toward the Mexican situation, or,
for that matter, the attitude of the whole country."

"We want no conquest of Mexico.
We want no war of retaliation and vengeance. We are not actuated by an 'eye for an eye' sentiment. We see no glory in whipping a poor, exhausted people which has been lashed into un speakable poverty by five years of tur bulence and chaotic revolution."

"We think it would be a crime for this government to send its forces into Mexico for the sole purpose of wreak
ing vengeance for what we have suf fered. We think it would be a blunder to make war with the object of taking Mexico, or a portion of it, into the United States."

"Yet we are convinced that the armed forces of this government should enter Mexico and remain there until order is restored and a stable govern ment established, over which the United States could exercise sufficient in fluence to insure permanency."

Mr. Henry proposed that if Senator Cullhoun would make three speeches
in Texas, and get a health certificate from an unbiased board, he would withdraw in favor of the senior sen ator. Now he hops off the speech re quirement. The senator can get Mr.
Henry's support if he will submit to a medical examination that will pro nounce him physically able to serve. A liberal proposal that. Face the doc tors, senator.

The earth will get within 222,000 miles of the moon tonight, and Her Celestial Highness will be in partial eclipse. Reserved seats on the front porch come easy, and there will be plenty of time for an exchange of small talk with your best girl before the per formance begins.

The Austin booklet sent to the Cin cinnati meeting of Rotarians contains pictures of a spinach farm, a turkey

such a collection of oddities, it is odd that the only Austin institution Texas people hear much about is her law factory.

With the promise of a campaign ev ery two years, the governor's salary is just about sufficient to circulate the black land district of the state, pro vided the postage is held down to one trained to use lightweight adjectives

in Texas, unless there is a heavy purse behind it.

General Haig announces the capture by the British of German first-line defenses on a front of eight miles, with 7,500 prisoners and twenty-six field guns. It takes John Bull a long time to get ready to fight, but when he fights, he fights.

If Pancho Villa has routed the Car
ranza forces in Southern Chihuahua, as reported, the next thing to do is to give the A, B, C powers a layoff, and to let the X, Y, Z powers try their hands upon a Mexican pow-wow.

"He took it with evident reluctance and I sat beside him praying with all my soul for his favorable opinion. I meant so much to me. Almost with dis belief, I watched him flip page after page between his fingers. He glanced at one, looked at a second, a third, and handed it back to me."

"Won't you read it?" I asked in a very hardy get the words out of my mouth.

"I am sorry I cannot use it," he answered, and turned to his desk. "Of course I should have gone at once."
I didn't. For the moment I couldn't move. I suppose there was something in the silence that made him turn to me again. There I sat, without a face, the tears streaming down my face. He handed me his. I am not sure he did not put me on the back. I looked absurdly like a little girl. If he did, it was too far gone in misery to resent it.

"When at last I lifted my head he had the story in his hand and looked no happier than I felt, but he said in a kindly, fatherly sort of way:

"Child, think of it. I was twenty one years old. If you must write one story to tell, this is nothing but a happening, an episode. Well writ ten, I admit, but there is nothing to hook the attention—no plot, no action.
We want strong stories of life."

"This is a real story," I inter rupted. "I knew all about it. And life isn't always a complicated affair, doesn't it always hinge on a plot. It is more often a happening than anything else."

"For an hour that busy man listened to me. I was sure he would in the end accept it, but I carried it away with me.
"Still I do not see what connection Mr.
Isaham had with it," one of the ladies re marked.

"Oh! I thought I had told you he was the editor who turned down the story.
I have never received it received for that."

He looked at her with amused eyes. "He never before credited you with bearing
malice, but now that you have had your revenge walk to the gate with me. Small
David is waiting and I never disappoint
him with his bedtime story."

At the gate they paused. The mock orange on either side were a wealth of bloom. Gathering the branches into her arms, she buried her face in the white
petals, breathing the perfume with evi dent delight. Mary always asks me down
when they are in bloom and no matter
how pressed I am for time I always
come," she said.

"I know this was the real reason for my leaving home when I decided the coun try was the best place for that youngster
of mine. I wanted our home to be where you would be happiest."

"Surely not again. How often must I tell you I do not need a home."

He laughed slightly. "Doesn't this
tell you I do not need a home?"

THE PRIMARY VOTE.

If Texas democrats vote as eagerly
as they have been wont to do, there will be something like 450,000 votes cast in the coming primary election.

In 1906 the total primary vote was 294,106.

In 1908 Campbell received 206,033 and Williams of Cumby 119,378, a total of 325,416 votes.

In 1910 Colquitt, Polindexter, John son, Davidson and Jones divided 358, 476 votes.

In 1912 the vote of Colquitt and Ramsey was 394,352.

In 1914 Ferguson, Ball and Morris received 435,299 votes, and Ferguson's
plurality over Ball was 45,504.

A study of these figures will show that a normal vote in the approaching primary will be a little above 450,000.
Of these at least 240,000 are prohibi
tionists and not exceeding 210,000 are anti-prohibitionists.

With these facts as his premises,
every man should be able to do his own forecasting.

Committee Will Not Pay for Change in Ballot

Dallas, July 13.—In conference yes terday with Col. Paul Waples of Fort Worth, chairman of the state democ ratic executive committee, the change in the form of the submission ballot was agreed upon, the new form being authorized by twenty-four out of the thirty-one members of the state democ ratic executive committee.

Colonel Waples is sending out to all democratic county chairmen a tele gram as follows:

"State democratic executive com mittee requests that the submission question be stated on the ballot as fol lows: 'For the submission of an amend ment to the constitution providing for statewide prohibition.' Also,
'Against the submission of an amend ment to the constitution providing for prohibition.' If reprinted must be without cost to state commit tee; however, either form will be counted."

From the foregoing instructions it will be seen that each county is ex pected to take care of any expense incurred in the change in the form of the ballot.

I have never received it received for that."

He looked at her with amused eyes. "He
never before credited you with bearing
malice, but now that you have had your revenge walk to the gate with me. Small
David is waiting and I never disappoint
him with his bedtime story."

At the gate they paused. The mock
orange on either side were a wealth of bloom. Gathering the branches into her
arms, she buried her face in the white
petals, breathing the perfume with evi dent delight. Mary always asks me down
when they are in bloom and no matter
how pressed I am for time I always
come," she said.

"I know this was the real reason for
my leaving home when I decided the coun
try was the best place for that youngster
of mine. I wanted our home to be where
you would be happiest."

"Surely not again. How often must I tell you I do not need a home."

He laughed slightly. "Doesn't this
tell you I do not need a home?"

FORMER LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR IS DEAD

GEORGE B. NEAL SUCCUMBS TO APOPLEXY AT HOME IN NAVASOTA.

Prominent for Many Years in Texas
Both as Politician and Lawyer.

Navasota, July 13.—George B. Neal, former lieutenant governor of Texas,
died suddenly at his home in Na vasota Thursday night at 10 o'clock from a stroke of apoplexy.

He had been ill for the last two weeks, but he was not thought to have been in a serious condition.

Mr. Neal served as county judge in Grimes county and a number of terms in the state legislature before being elevated to the office of lieutenant gov ernor. He was well known as both a politician and lawyer throughout the state.

He is survived by his widow and a son, Douglas Neal, Navasota, and two daughters, Mrs. Maude Johnson, Na vasota, and Mrs. H. H. Scott, Victoria.

Burnet Courtroom Crowded for Trial of Alleged Robbers

Burnet, July 13.—With an over flowed courtroom and upward of 1,500 persons seeking admission, the fourth day of the trial of Lewis and A. S.
Dodd, brothers, charged with robbing a bank at Marble Falls, Texas, and the murder of Bookkeeper Heinatz, last winter, was resumed today.

The story of the robbery was out lined in detail by Cashier Tate, who was locked in the vault by the robbers.
Other testimony submitted was for the purpose of identifying the men as those who entered the bank took a sum of money and were recently cap tured after a chase which led half way across the state.

Witnesses identified a red sweater
one of the men was alleged to have worn while entering the bank. This and a small satchel were found a few days after the robbery in a field.

Dallas Traveling Man Killed in Hotel at Mineral Wells

Mineral Wells, July 13.—Harry Wal ters, aged 55, a Dallas traveling man, was shot twice and instantly killed in a local hotel last night by a tall, mask ed burglar who entered the room Wal ters and his brother, Will, aged 60, were sharing, and demanded "the money I saw a while ago." Will Wal ters was fired at twice, but was not hit, and succeeded in wrestling from the burglar a grip which was supposed to contain the money. The burglar, evidently frightened, escaped from the hotel and retreated to the mountains
on the outskirts of the town.
The entire affair consumed less than thirty seconds, Will Walters said.
Officers early today were unable to find a trace of the burglar and the surviving Walters could not give an accurate description of him.

State Savings Bank Report.

Austin, July 13.—Resources of the savings department of the twenty eight state banks in Texas maintaining such departments at the close of busi ness on June 30 amounted to $3,854, 769.69, according to a statement issued today by the state department of in surance and banking. Of the resources, $2,751,013.38 is first lien on real estate
and $210,162 in city and school bonds.
Of the liabilities, $3,896,881 is due to depositors and $27,817 is undivided net profits. Actual cash reserve is $755, 893.46, which is $198,966.54 in excess of the legal requirements.

Double Killing at San Diego.

San Diego, July 13.—Augustine Cha pa, a young Mexican, angered at the alleged refusal of Julia Mendez to marry him, last today went to the Mexican girl's home near Rosita, Tex.
and killed her with a rifle and then killed himself with the same weapon.
Rosita is fifteen miles west of San Diego.

More Hogs Bought at Lorena.

Lorena, July 13.—W. D. M. A. and E. A. Knight received four cars of stock hogs from Lorena, and Beeville, Texas, today. There were 425 head in the bunch and all good, thrifty hogs, which were taken to their farms where they will be fattened and rushed on to market.

Big Fire in Brenham.

Brenham, July 13.—Fire in the busi ness section here today did damage estimated at $100,000. Among the build ings destroyed was the Hanck hotel and the Houston and Texas Central depot was destroyed. Its origin is un known.

Working for Submission.

Gatesville, July 13.—The submission committee of the county has a large force mailing out circulars to the vot ers of the county. The appeal to vot e is made very strong and they expect good results from their effort.

Gatesville to Have Revival.

Gatesville, July 13.—A revival meet ing will commence next Sunday at the Baptist church here. Rev. Mr. Finney, an evangelist of some note, will do the preaching.

Mineral Wells Pioneer Dies.

Mineral Wells, July 13.—R. C. Betty, aged 91, who has been a resident of Texas since 1848, died at his home here last night.

A. C. Patton Speaks to Working Boys; Is Melon Host

A. C. Patton delivered a very in teresting address before the Working Boys' club last night at their regular meeting. Mr. Patton's topic was "Honesty." His talk was illustrated and was well received. Mr. Pat ton's address was so interesting that he was announcing to them that some ice cream watermelons were waiting for them on the outside of the club rooms.

The evening thought discussed by members of the club was "How I Made My First Dollar." Several of the boys responded and related some very interesting experiences.

Mrs. Jos. Wren, an accomplished Waco singer, favored the boys with several songs. The boys retired to the outside of the club rooms and en joyed the watermelons furnished by Mr. Patton and some cantaloupes sent by Barney Satter, member of the club,
now doing work on the farm.

peach packing demonstration which was scheduled to have been held this afternoon at the East Side orchard of Falkner, has been postponed until some time next week. W. B. Lan

400 Troopers Take Dash in "Y" Pool

Four hundred members of the In diana National Guard stopped over in Waco long enough last night to take a very welcome dash in the "Y" M. C. A. pool. The large number of troopers went for the water with an avidity that showed that baths are rather un common luxuries en route to the bor der. Thursday evening being the reg ular time for the weekly swim of the club, the young women had to postpone their aquatic feature until next week.

The Fly a Pest and a Trial.

Summer is a season of trial to the housewife. Not only does the heat do much to add to her discomfort, espe cially if she must spend a good deal of her time in a hot kitchen cooking the family meals, but that summer pest—
the fly—menace and a danger to the health of her family. While it remains in her house she is not free from the threat of dread disease every fly that enters the house must be killed immediately.

Many housewives who take the pre caution of screening all their windows and doors are still troubled by the presence of flies. They cannot under stand where the pests come from, as all apparent entrances to the house are cut off. But if there are open fire places in the houses flies will come down these. Screen the fireplace by tacking up mosquito netting. This will keep the pests out.

The home cook can do much to al leviate the fly evil by keeping her kit chen immaculately clean during the sum mer season. Flies love to congregate about bits of food, and if there is any left lying about they are sure to take ad vantage of the fact. As soon as the meal is finished, clear up the dishes immediately, scrape them clean of all food and put them to soak in a dish basin. Put all extra food away in the icebox at once, leaving nothing about that may become contaminated by the pest.

If in spite of your precautions you are still bothered with flies it is best to invest in fly paper or some other sort of exterminator, and to put these about the house. They should be placed, however, beyond the reach of children's hands, as all fly destroyers are made up largely of poison. One of the best ways of exterminating these pests is to buy one of the wire fly kil ls.

The Evolution of Hat Trimming.
(Vogue.)

A curious change has taken place in the trimming of hats. Formerly a hat was deliberately trimmed with this or that—flowers, feathers, or something else—a separate garniture attached to the hat. Now the trimming is made as it were, in one with the hat—a sort of mural decoration. If the trimming were removed there would be no hat.
The new hat is effective, less cumbers ome and more beautiful, but, alas!
no less expensive.

TRIUMPH FOR FLEMING

Recent Event at Mart Was Notable Demonstration in His Favor—Fully a Thousand People Cheer and Encourage McLennan's Big Sheriff.

SHERIFF S. S. FLEMING.

The public speaking at Mart on Friday night of last week proved features that opened the eyes of some people, especially some who went there from Waco. This city, by the way, had a goodly representation there, for no less a personage than his honor, John Dollins, mayor of Waco, was on the mound. Several others could be mentioned—some of them ladies—but as chief executive the mayor is accorded first honor, a distinction that naturally falls to him.

Of course there was the usual bunch of candidates, for various offices, all worthy men, who had opportunity to make their announcements, and who did so in a way that seemed to win applause and perhaps favor for all of them. At any rate all appeared to be well pleased with the reception that each got.

It was when Sheriff S. S. Fleming arose to speak that the enthusiasm of the great crowd (and it numbered more than a thousand persons, so capable estimators said) came into evidence. There was continuous cheering and while it lasted the big sheriff, with good nature and patience on his genial and kindly face, waited for subsidence of the enthusiasm. It came soon and then he made his talk, the crowd listening very carefully, but every now and then breaking out into applause. It was not a material departure, Sheriff Fleming's speech being the appeals and statements he has made at other places. It was not lengthy, or with any effort at eloquence, and it was modest in spirit—just a candid statement of the record made, why he asks continuance in office and promise (if he is re-elected) of dutiful service to the end. The sheriff lays no claim to eloquence. He is just a plain man, like most of his fellow citizens, and he talks in a plain, straightforward way that does impress his hearers and convinces them that he is telling the truth.

That he won his audience that night was evidenced by the applause through his talk and the greeting he got when his speech ended. A citizen of Mart said next day: "I have never seen such a crowd gathered here just to hear a man speak, and I have never seen any local candidate here get such an ovation as Sheriff Fleming got at the close of his talk. Many told me they came chiefly because they knew the sheriff would be there and speak. He is very popular in and around Mart."

As at Mart (so say the friends of Sheriff Fleming) so it will be at most places in the county. He will get the vote, and as for Waco, his friends say, "and have not played and favored it, and the people in the country know it. I expect to reach Waco on the night of July 22 with the majority of the county vote in my favor." (Political Adv.)

Judge Prendergast to Address Lawyers' Club Saturday, July 28

Judge A. C. Prendergast, chief justice of the court of criminal appeals, has accepted an invitation to speak before the Lawyers' Luncheon club of this city on July 28, according to an announcement yesterday by President D. C. Woods of the club. It is the hope of the lawyers to have an address by Judge Nelson Phillips, chief justice of the supreme court, at a later date.

Judge Prendergast was a citizen of Waco until he was appointed to the court of criminal appeals during the Campbell administration. A meeting of the executive committee of the Lawyers' Luncheon club, composed of G. B. Rogers, chairman; E. B. Baker and J. D. Willis, was held yesterday afternoon, at which time a committee on legal ethics was selected, consisting of Judge Marshall Surratt, Hon. N. B. Williams and Albert Rogers. It will be the duty of this committee to draft a code of ethics for members of the club, and to also answer all questions relative to professional conduct, which may be propounded by members of the club.

MASKED WOMAN IS INTERESTING WACO: HAS SHE LOST HUSBY

"I know who that masked woman is," declared a youngster yesterday afternoon as the mysterious young woman, wearing her black mask, walked down one of the prominent business streets. "She's looking for her lost husband."

"Where do you get that?" was the prompt rejoinder of another urchin. "She looks like she's a-lookin' and most wimin is lookin' for husbands." That might have satisfied the kids—for even they are showing a great deal of interest in this mysterious young person who is never seen without her black mask. But this doesn't satisfy the rest of the populace. They have varying theories as to what has brought the young woman and her mask to Waco. Some believe she is here on a sleuthing expedition, while others are sure that she herself is afraid of being caught. Few of these opinions, however, seem to fit the case for no sooner is one of them advanced than some one puts them aside with what he believes to be convincing argument.

Whatever her purpose she is certainly giving the impression that her actions are queer and the guessing bees are multiplying in number daily.

One time yesterday afternoon she was trailed into the International & Great Northern ticket office. Here she asked about the rates to St. Louis and other points. The information was furnished and Mr. Evans was careful that he did not turn his back on this very mysterious masked woman.

Whether she intends to go to St. Louis or not doesn't concern anyone but herself. However, if she does go it is apparent that she intends to take an automobile along with her. Yesterday afternoon she walked into the show rooms of the C. W. Auto Motor Car company and after displaying a roll of bills of large denomination, asked to see one of the new Studebaker touring cars. She also asked how much it would cost. She looked over the car for a few moments and then asked for a demonstration for Friday, which Mr. Lake agreed to give. Though a bit dubious about accompanying this mysterious woman, but with a sale in view, he decided to put his fears aside and give her the demonstration.

She visited the Central Texas Exchange National bank and inquired if she could borrow money on a diamond ring. When she was told that she could and the ring was called for, she said she didn't have the ring with her and she would come again. She visited several jewelry stores, it was reported, and looked at watches, bracelets, but made no purchases. Some of the salesmen frankly admitted they feared she planned to hold them up.

Another incident of Thursday afternoon in which the woman of mystery figured was when a man following her several blocks to the intersection of the Raleigh hotel. Finally he attempted to ask her the nature of her mission in Waco and got a flash from blazing eyes back of the mask. Then, after gasping for breath while the wearer of the mask disappeared in the hotel elevator and disappeared.

From all that can be learned this mysterious person has not spoken a word to a single person in Waco except on some matter of personal business. She indulged in no casual conversations as she has answered no questions relative to her identity or mission. Apparently she has an abundance of cash and pays for all her purchases.

NEGRO MUSICIANS CHARM AUDIENCE AT BAYLOR UNIVERSITY

A crowd of about a thousand people enjoyed the concert on the Baylor campus yesterday evening by the members of the Central Texas College Glee club. The leader of these colored musicians is Julius Bledsoe, and after the concert those who were most competent to judge, among whom was Prof. J. M. Evans of the Baylor fine arts faculty, pronounced the playing of Mr. Bledsoe as very high class, and said that considering the conditions under which the concert was given, the short time which had been allowed for preparation, that the results and effects obtained were nothing short of remarkable. The crowd was the largest of the season on the campus, and there was never a moment when the folk songs by the double mixed quartet were equally popular and called forth continued applause from the audience.

Mr. Bledsoe and his assistants were introduced by Prof. J. M. Evans, who called attention to the work in music that is being done in the negro colleges and commended it to the people for their support and encouragement. Then came the first two of the folk songs, "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot," and "I Been a-Listening." These were followed by two piano numbers from Mr. Bledsoe—an improvisation by Edward McDowell, and an original by Chambliss—both of which delighted the audience. Then Miss Cobb, who is an aunt of Bledsoe and a teacher in the Waco colored schools, gave a vocal solo entitled "Barcelona," which was very much enjoyed by the audience. Then followed four folk songs, "Going Up," "Couldn't Hear Nobody Pray," "Seek and Ye Shall Find," and "Walkin' in Jerusalem, Just Like John." Mr. Bledsoe's last selection was an African dance, by the colored pianist, Coleidge Taylor. It was interpreted exceptionally well and received much applause. Then after a short talk by Miss Cobb, the program was closed with another of the folk songs. Miss Cobb announced that Mr. Bledsoe would give a piano recital at the Auditorium next Monday night, and would be assisted by the singers who were with him last evening. A large number of folk song numbers will be given on that occasion, while Mr. Bledsoe will show the people of Waco what he has accomplished as a pianist. Many who were quite enthusiastic over his playing announced their intention of attending this recital.

CHARGING FATHER'S MIND WAS UNSOUND. McLEAN SUES TO GET $20,000,000 ESTATE

Edward B. McLean, his wife and son.

Edward B. McLean of Washington has started suit in a District of Columbia court to break the will of his father. He charges that the elder McLean was of unsound mind when he made the will. By the terms of the will young McLean gets the use of his father's $20,000,000 estate during his lifetime, but has no control over the properties. He wants the estate to do with as he pleases.

Joe N. Boyd Has Had Valuable Experience as a Commissioner

Attention is called to the fact that county commissioner's precinct No. 4 includes much of the city of Waco, ward 2, ward 6 and ward 1, and therefore a large number of the voters of Waco are interested in those who offer for the position.

With three city wards spread out through one precinct, there is a natural desire to look into the qualifications of those who are asking to serve in the position, because much of the city connects with the county on the boundary line.

Joe N. Boyd is the present commissioner. Mr. Boyd was one of the members of the commissioners' court when the present business system was established. He is familiar with the methods of the good roads bond issue that has resulted in the construction of so many roads throughout the county, and has been a watchful eye on all work that has been done and all expenditures that have been made. Mr. Boyd says of his policy:

"I believe in system and in business management, and I believe the business men of the county have looked into the conduct of the county affairs under our present methods are convinced that merit has been taken into consideration in all things and there has been no political juggling. The methods now being followed have brought results; the system under which we have divided the county into sections, with a working force of men doing each section to keep the roads lastingly at repairs and improvements, has proved to be the proper manner to take care of the roads. Under the engineering oversight that is given all work and all material the county has gotten value received for every dollar spent in labor and has gotten 100 cents for every dollar spent for material. There is no waste of timber, sand or gravel; there is no shrinkage of the lumber that is bought, because the engineer keeps his foot rule on his purchases and on what is used, and we know to the inch where it has gone and the good it is doing. Hazard methods of fifty years ago, and coming down to the time when the new road law became effective, are a thing of the past.

"The commissioners' court had the advice and counsel of business men in providing the bond issue for the good roads. Citizens gave their time and attention as a committee to assist us, and we appreciate this co-operation. I am willing to abide by the record that has been made, believing that those who will look into the county affairs will be convinced. It is true there are many rumors being shunted about the county by those who are opposed to the present court and to the law that has abolished the road overseers, but these rumors and criticisms are without basis in fact of any character. Road overseers have been abolished; they were a cost to the county; they did not know road building methods and the work they would do one year would have to be either taken out or done over the next year. The engineer is educated in the science of road building and bridge construction. With his knowledge to guide the commissioners, those who construct roads will neither drain water up hill or turn it upon the nearby lands, and the bridge men cannot sell a bridge of one quality and deliver another. The county has saved enough in the construction of bridges, since the engineer has been employed, to twice pay the expenses of his office.

"I submit my candidacy to the voters who have studied these questions, with the hope that I will get your support, in order that I may continue the system that I have helped to inaugurate, and that I may be a means to make it bigger, broader and better." (Political Advertisement.)

Baylor Philos Down Sophie Tossers

In the annual inter-society basketball game at Baylor last night the Philos doubled up on their rivals and defeated them by the score of 42 to 21. At no time were the Philos behind in the scoring, and in the second half they outplayed their opponents decidedly. The line-up was as follows: Philos—Wilson, center; Turner, guard; Gettys and Crawford, forwards. (Grogan substituted for Turner one quarter). Sophies—Hodges, center; Blair, Sawyer, guards; Davidson and Counts, forwards. (Spencer substituted for Hodges one quarter). For the Philos, Gettys and Crawford starred, while the best man of the Sophies was Blair. A large crowd of several hundred enthusiastic students attended the game, which was played in the gymnasium.

It was when Sheriff S. S. Fleming arose to speak that the enthusiasm of the great crowd (and it numbered more than a thousand persons, so capable estimators said) came into evidence. There was continuous cheering and while it lasted the big sheriff, with good nature and patience on his genial and kindly face, waited for subsidence of the enthusiasm. It came soon and then he made his talk, but every now and then breaking out into applause. It was not a material departure, Sheriff Fleming's speech being the appeals and statements he has made at other places. It was not lengthy, or with any effort at eloquence, and it was modest in spirit—just a candid statement of the record made, why he asks continuance in office and promise (if he is re-elected) of dutiful service to the end. The sheriff lays no claim to eloquence. He is just a plain man, like most of his fellow citizens, and he talks in a plain, straightforward way that does impress his hearers and convinces them that he is telling the truth.

That he won his audience that night was evidenced by the applause through his talk and the greeting he got when his speech ended. A citizen of Mart said next day: "I have never seen such a crowd gathered here just to hear local candidates, and I have never seen any local candidate here get such an ovation as Sheriff Fleming got at the close of his talk. Many told me they came chiefly because they knew the sheriff would be there and speak. He is very popular in and around Mart."

As at Mart (so say the friends of Sheriff Fleming) so it will be at most places in the county. He will get the vote, and as for Waco, his friends claim the city for him by 1900 to 1909 majority, though it is the county vote that Mr. Fleming himself says that he will be notably strong for him. "I have been capable and faithful," he says, "and have not played and favored, and the people in the country know it. I expect to reach Waco on the night of July 22 with the majority of the country vote in my favor." (Political Adv.)

Judge Prendergast to Address Lawyers' Club Saturday, July 28

Judge A. C. Prendergast, chief justice of the court of criminal appeals, has accepted an invitation to speak before the Lawyers' Luncheon club of this city on July 28, according to announcement yesterday by President D. C. Woods of the club. It is the hope of the lawyers to have an address by Judge Nelson Phillips, chief justice of the supreme court, at a later date.

Judge Prendergast was a citizen of Waco until he was appointed to the court of criminal appeals during the Campbell administration. A meeting of the executive committee of the Lawyers' Luncheon club, composed of G. B. Rogers, chairman; E. B. Baker and J. D. Willis, was held yesterday afternoon, at which time a committee on legal ethics was selected, consisting of Judge Marshall Suratt, Hon. N. B. Williams and Albert Rogers. It will be the duty of this committee to draft a code of ethics for members of the club, and to also answer all questions relative to professional conduct, which may be propounded by members of the club.

MASKED WOMAN'S INTERESTING WACO: HAS SHE LOST HUSBAND?

"I know who that masked woman is," declared a youngster yesterday afternoon as the mysterious young woman, wearing her black mask, walked down one of the prominent business streets. "She's looking for her lost husband." "Where do you get that?" was the prompt rejoinder of another urchin. "She looks like she's a-lookin' and most wimin is lookin' for husbands." "That might have satisfied the kids—for even they are showing a great deal of interest in this mysterious young person who is never seen without her black mask. But this doesn't satisfy the rest of the populace. They have varying theories as to what has brought the young woman and her mask to Waco. Some believe she is here on a sleuthing expedition, while others are sure that she herself is afraid of being caught. Few of these opinions, however, seem to hit the spot, for no sooner is one of them advanced than some one puts them aside with what he believes to be convincing argument.

Whatever her purpose she is certainly giving the impression that her actions are queer and the guessing bees are multiplying in number daily. One time yesterday afternoon she was trailed into the International & Great Northern ticket office, where she asked about the rates to St. Louis and the best connections to New York and other points. The information was furnished and Mr. Byars was careful that he did not turn his back on this very mysterious masked woman.

Whether she intends to go to St. Louis or not doesn't concern anyone but herself. However, if she does go it is apparent that she intends to take an automobile along with her. Yesterday afternoon she walked into the show rooms of the C. W. Auto Motor Car company and after displaying a roll of bills of large denomination, asked to see one of the new Studebaker touring cars. She also asked how much it would cost. She looked over the car for a few moments and then asked for a few more. When she was told that she could and the ring was called for, she said she didn't have the ring with her and that she would come again. She visited several jewelry stores, it was reported, and looked at watches, bracelets, but made no purchases. Some of the salesmen frankly admitted they feared she planned to hold them up.

Another incident of Thursday afternoon in which the woman of mystery figured was when a man followed her several blocks as she was returning to the Raleigh hotel. Finally he attempted to ask her the nature of her mission in Waco and got a flash from blazing eyes back of the mask that left him reeling for breath. He was the wear of the mask stepped in the hotel elevator and disappeared.

From all that can be learned this mysterious person has not spoken a word to a single individual in Waco except on some matter of personal business. She indulged in no casual conversations as she has answered no questions regarding her identity or mission. Apparently she has an abundance of cash and pays for all her purchases.

NEGRO MUSICIANS CHARM AUDIENCE AT BAYLOR UNIVERSITY

A crowd of about a thousand people enjoyed the concert on the Baylor campus yesterday evening by the members of the Central Texas College Glee club. The leader of these colored musicians is Julius Bledsoe, and after the concert those who were most competent to judge, among whom was Prof. J. M. Evans of the Baylor fine arts faculty, pronounced the playing of Mr. Bledsoe as very high class, and said that considering the colored and short time which had been allowed him for preparation, that the results and effects obtained were nothing short of remarkable. The crowd was the largest of the season and a moment when their interest or attention lagged. The folk songs by the double mixed quartet were equally popular and called forth continued applause from the audience.

Mr. Bledsoe and his assistants were introduced by Prof. J. M. Evans, who called attention to the work in music that is being done in the negro colleges and commended it to the people for their support and encouragement. Then came the first two of the folk songs, "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot," and "I Been a'Listening." These were followed by two piano numbers from Mr. Bledsoe's composition by Edward McDowell, and an etude by "Chaminade"—both of which delighted the audience. Then Miss Cobb, who is an aunt of Bledsoe and a teacher in the Waco colored schools, gave a vocal solo entitled "Barcelona," which was very much enjoyed by the audience. Then followed four folk songs, "Going Up," "Couldn't Hear Nobody Pray," "Seek and Ye Shall Find," and "Walkin' in Jerusalem. Just Like John." Mr. Bledsoe's last selection was an African dance by the colored pianist, Coleridge Taylor. It was interpreted exceptionally well and received much applause. Then after a short talk by Miss Cobb, the program was closed with another of the folk songs. Miss Cobb announced that Mr. Bledsoe would give a piano recital at the Auditorium next Monday night, and would be assisted by the singers who were with him last evening. A large number of folk song numbers will be given on that occasion, while Mr. Bledsoe will show the people of Waco what he has accomplished as a pianist. Many who were quite enthusiastic over his playing announced their intention of attending this recital.

CHARGING FATHER'S MIND WAS UNSOUND, McLEAN SUES TO GET $20,000,000 ESTATE

Edward B. McLean, his wife and son.

Edward B. McLean of Washington has started suit in a District of Columbia court to break the will of his father. He charges that the elder McLean was of unsound mind when he made the will. By the terms of the will young McLean gets the use of his father's $20,000,000 estate during his lifetime, but has no control over the properties. He wants the estate to do with as he pleases.

Joe N. Boyd Has Had Valuable Experience as a Commissioner

Attention is called to the fact that county commissioner's precinct No. 4 includes much of the city of Waco, ward 2, ward 6 and ward 1, and therefore a large number of the voters of those who are asking to serve in the position, because much of the city connects with the county on the boundary line.

Joe N. Boyd is the present commissioner. Mr. Boyd was one of the members of the commissioners' court when the present business system was established. He joined with the promoters of the good roads bond issue that has resulted in the construction of so many roads throughout the county, and his has been a watchful eye on all work that has been done and all expenditures that have been made. Mr. Boyd says of his policy:

"I believe in system and in business management, and I believe the business men of Waco who have looked into the conduct of the county affairs under our present methods are convinced that merit has been taken into consideration in all things and there has been no political juggling. The methods now being followed have brought results; the system under which we have divided the county into sections, with a working force of men in each section to keep everlastingly at repairs and improvements, has proved to be the proper manner to take care of the roads. Under the engineering oversight that is given all work and all material the county has gotten value received for every dollar spent in labor and has gotten 100 cents for every dollar spent for material. There is no waste of time, and, in fact, there is no shrinkage of the lumber that is bought, because the engineer keeps his foot rule on his purchases and on what is used, and we know to the inch where it has gone and the good it is doing. Hazardous methods of fifty years ago, and coming down to the time when the new road law became effective, are a thing of the past.

"The commissioners' court had the advice and counsel of business men in providing the bond issue for the good roads. Citizens gave their time and attention as a committee to assist us, and we appreciate this co-operation. I am willing to abide by the record that has been made, believing that those who will look into the county affairs will be convinced. It is true there are many rumors being shunted about the county by those who are opposed to the present court and to the law that has abolished the road overseers, but these rumors and criticisms are without basis in fact of any character. Road overseers have been abolished; they were a cost to the county; they did not know road building methods and the work they would do one year would have to be either taken out or done over the next year. The engineer is educated in the science of road building and bridge construction. With his knowledge to guide the commissioners, those who construct roads will neither drain water up hill or turn it upon the nearby lands, and the bridge men cannot sell a bridge of one quality and deliver another. The county has saved enough in the construction of bridges, since the engineer has been employed, to twice pay the expenses of his office.

"I submit my candidacy to the voters who have studied these questions, with the hope that I will get your support, in order that I may continue the system that I have helped to inaugurate, and that I may be a means to make it bigger, broader and better." (Political Advertisement.)

In the annual inter-society basketball game at Baylor last night the Philos doubled up on their rivals and defeated them by the score of 42 to 21. At 25 time were the Philos behind in the scoring, and in the second half they outplayed their opponents decidedly. The line-up was as follows: Philos—Wilson, center; Turner, guard; Gettys and Crawford, forwards. (Grogan substituted for Turner one quarter). Sophies—Hodges, center; Blair, Sawyer, guards; Davidson and Counts, forwards. (Spencer substituted for Hodges one quarter). For the Philos, Gettys and Crawford starred, while the best man of the Sophies was Blair. A large crowd of several hundred enthusiastic students attended the game, which was played in the gymnasium.

WACO PANTHERS

A. RANKIN JOHNSON TAPS HOMER WITH ROBINSON ON BASE.

SAGE IS AGAIN THE VICTIM

Waco is Ahead Until Eighth Inning, When Pitcher's Hit Blows Things Up—Panthers Come in Ninth.

No one would blame Sage much if he harked back to the bushy days of '71 and showed his disgust as did the boys in those infant times, by slamming down his glove, spiking it to bits, and then kicking the defenseless remains away. But George is too mild-mannered to do that. He shakes his head soberly, says it's all in the game, and tries again. An order to pitch against a club with horse shoes sewed all through their suits is a bad enough assignment. Yet Sage was standing 'em on their heads, and refusing to break in the face of Johnson's disheartening pitching. For five innings not a man reached first base off the Skipper. In the seventh, Manda singled but was left stranded. In the meantime the locals had forged one run ahead, and seemed to be finding A. Rankin's easy-motion serves with some success.

McIVER HAS A REAL HUNCH.

There didn't appear one single chance for the Panthers and Vitter to put anything across. Otto Melver had a hunch, though. He knew he'd never be deserted by the invisible fair one who presides over the destinies of man, and who makes it a point to follow the beckonings of a certain Texas league ball team. She came, all right, as joyous as the day before, yet, just as buoyant as she was on the day the season opened. The lady whispered loudest to Johnson when she tripped through the park; she hurried up proceedings a bit for she wished time to visit a certain other club down where the sea breezes blow.

Then the boldest stroke of all. Unknown to the local battery, she stationed herself behind the pitcher's box in the eighth, and caught every signal from the catcher. A Rankin already had his instructions. "When I slide my slipper off, kid, bow your neck and lay to; it's a fast one." Robinson started the eventful round with a lucky single through third, Carson tapped a neat sacrifice, Wohlleben to Malmquist.

JOHNSON WINS HIS SOWN GAME.

Then the ex-Ped stepped up. He got the count all knotted, then strained his eyes for sign from the eaves-dropper. Yep, she kicked the foot-wear in the air and beat it to the clouds. She'd done her duty. Johnson, following instructions to the dot, closed his eyes and swung. When he woke up the ball had just disappeared over to left-field pailings, with Bittle a dejected onlooker. Stow pounded a double to the left, and Malmquist fouled out and Manda whiffed.

Mclver kept up the good work with another two-bagger in the ninth. Hollander popped to Bittle, but Balle bounced a scratch over Grubb's head. Mac being held at third. With the infield playing back for a double play, Robinson hit a fast one to Tanner. Bailey was forced, Buddy to Malmquist, but Robinson's throw to first and Mclver scored. The Navigators died peacefully in their last bat. Tanner filed out to Manda, Kelley fanned, and Wohlleben rolled to Stow. In the first inning, Mclaurin dented the eighth street fence with a double. Manda hit a slow bouncer past second which Tanner made a late start for. He barely missed it, and Mclaurin crossed the plate. Thereafter, the visitors were helpless until the eighth.

NAVS TIE IT IN FIFTH.

Waco tied it up in the fifth. Grubb smote a vicious double that did the ball game. Kelley singled to right, but was forced by Wohlleben at second. Mclver to Stow. Fred Stow scored, easily beating Carson's puny lob. Grubb walked. Sage moved the runners along with a sacrifice, pitcher to first. Bittle lined a fast one high over the infield, only to have it snagged down by Hollander. They went out in order in the eighth and ninth.

THE UMPIRING IS SOME BETTER.

Vitter's work yesterday was a slight improvement upon that of the day before. Yet he gave the Navs nothing on close plays. Tanner whiffed in the second, but the ball was low, and Carson missed it, and it rolled to the stand. Tanner slid into first on a hit with the ball. Vitter jerked his thumb back. There you are. In a league of this size, the double-umpire system should be in vogue every day. As the situation is now, the authorities seem to think that they are conferring a great concession upon a town when they favor the fans with two umpires for one series. It stands to reason that one umpire can't see all the plays as well as if there had been a field judge. The present games here amply prove this. The score:

Brief Summary of New Fox Film

The feature film, "Caprice of the Mountains," as produced by William Fox, tells the following story:

Caprice Talbert, a winsome maiden, lives with her father, a mountaineer, who desires her to marry Tim Baker, a coarse youth of the mountains. A stepmother is jealous of Caprice and makes life miserable for her. Caprice runs away from home.

On the road she meets a gay automobile party, among whom is Jack Edmonds (Harry S. Hilliard), grandson of a venerable artist who lives near Caprice's home.

Jack gives the girl a bundle and asks her to deliver it to his grandfather with a message. Mr. Edmonds tells Caprice a fairy story which opens her eyes to the beauties of the mountains around her own home and induces her to return to her father's house.

Jack goes to his grandfather's mountain home for a hunting trip. Tim, the coarse mountaineer, endeavors to force his attentions upon Caprice, aided and abetted by her stepmother. Parental pressure is brought to bear and Caprice is about to be forced into a marriage with Tim. In the meantime, she has met Jack, whom she considers a "fairy prince." The night of the wedding arrives and Caprice again runs away from home. Jack follows, overtakes her and they eventually marry. But Caprice, unaccustomed to the ways of society, causes Jack great embarrassment and he resumes the fast life he led before meeting her. He gradually goes to ruin. Caprice leaves him and returns to her old home in the mountains. Jack again renounces his life of dissipation, turns over a new leaf, rejoins his young wife in the mountains and is introduced to his son and heir.

Quimet's Golf Club Loses Standing

Boston, July 13.—It was learned today that the Woodland Golf club of Newton, which supported its members, Francis Quimet, J. H. Sullivan, Jr. and Paul Tewksbury, who were declared ineligible to amateur standing by the United States Golf association, has been stricken from membership in the national body.

The club has held an associate membership in the national association and applied recently for active membership. Formal notification of the national body's action has been served upon club officials, but no reason for it has been given.

Battling Levinsky Outpoints Dillon

Baltimore, July 13.—Jack Dillon of Indianapolis and Battling Levinsky of New York, light-heavyweights, fought a ten-round, no-decision bout at Oriole park here today. The New Yorker outpointed the Hoosier in all but the sixth round, in which Dillon had a shade the better of it, and in the fourth, which was even. The bout originally was intended to go fifteen rounds to a decision, but the comparatively small attendance brought about a lengthy discussion between the backers and promoters which resulted in a

A. R. MARKS BEGINS EXTENSIVE TOUR OF MILLINERY BUYING

Made necessary by the remarkable growth and success of the Marks Millinery company of this city, A. R. Marks has left for the eastern markets to spend about five weeks in selecting latest fashions in feminine head apparel. During the course of his purchasing tour, Mr. Marks will visit St. Louis, Chicago, Milwaukee and New York. The trip will mean that new goods will begin to arrive at the store daily.

Mr. Marks has extensive fashion correspondents in the big markets of the north and east and will devote much of his time to actual purchasing. He will also make a survey of the field with regard to introducing newer concepts in head-gear to the Waco customers.

The judicious selections and variety of millinery has resulted in a heavy business by this Waco concern, and the company feels that the influx of new materials and hats which will soon begin arriving as a result of the buying trip will be of especial interest to the hundreds of regular patrons and shoppers generally.

PALACE COLISEUM WILL BE ENLARGED

Plans for remodeling the Cotton Palace coliseum which will mean an increase in the seating capacity of approximately 22½ per cent over the present capacity were adopted at the meeting of the directors last night. The already large structure will have an extension of forty feet of the west side, according to the plans, and it is declared that the acoustic properties of the building will be greatly benefited. The stage will remain about the same dimensions and the same amount of dance floor space will be retained. The new plan, which was presented last night and explained in detail, was approved by the directors. The building committee, with C. H. Cox as chairman, has the matter in charge. It is expected to begin construction work at an early date. The plans for additional stock barns having been approved, it was announced last night that work on these structures will begin immediately. Plans for the enlargement of the agricultural building will be taken up at a meeting of the directors Monday.

Speakers' Club Is Against Intervention in Mexico

The decision of the judges in the weekly debate of the Waco Speakers' club last night was against Uncle Sam intervening in troublesome Mexico. J. Ginsberg and Z. McCormick represented the affirmative and T. E. Leach and B. A. Goodman defended the negative. The question was stated, "Resolved, That the United States Should Intervene and Establish a Protectorate Over Mexico." A. C. Johnston was the orator of the evening, choosing "Mexico" as his theme. Mr. McCormick was given special mention for his discussion of the question.

The program committee announced the following program for the meeting next Thursday: C. R. Mitchell, orator; debate, "Resolved, That the Fee System in McLennan County Should be Abolished." Affirmative, W. E. Lester and Ferd S. Marrs; negative, C. H. Machen and Glenn Murray.

Wacoans Leave for Big Rotary Meet at Cincinnati

Waco will be represented at the International Rotary convention in Cincinnati, July 16-20, by five delegates, four of whom left yesterday morning. Those leaving for Palestine yesterday to connect with the Rotary special deluxe were President F. L. Booth, Secretary H. M. Cox, W. P. Wieseler, delegate-elect, and W. W. Naman, representing the Y. M. B. L. and honorary member of the club. F. M. Fillmore preceded the party on a trip to the north and will join the Wacoans at the convention city. Mr. Meuse of the Beaumont club joined the Wacoans here. The local contingent will attempt to secure the election of J. Penland of Waco as district governor. Mr. Penland hoped to attend the convention, but was unable to go on account of business demands.

Lake View Picnic Today Will Draw Many, It Is Expected

With the number of prominent speakers at Lake View today and the care with which arrangements have been made for the comfort of visitors, it is expected that there will be a large crowd at the picnic. The traction company announces that all of its cars will make this stop, which is just fifteen minutes out, and every effort will be made for the convenience of visitors. The Dallas pike, which leads to the picnic grounds, will attract many. The Mothers' club of the Lake View school has provided baskets of ice cream and refreshments for the picnic. Lunches and cold drinks at the stands. Sanger Bros.' baseball team will play Speegleville, while the Goldstein-Mizel team will meet Chalk Bluff.

RED CROSS DOG SAVES LIVES AT VERDUN

A French Red Cross dog is shown returning after a "scouting expedition" over the battlefields at Verdun, with the helmet of a wounded, deserted soldier who has been discovered. The dog assists in the finding of the wounded strewn over the battlefield so that they may be brought into the hospital.

PERSONAL MENTION

L. J. LaGrange of Dallas was in Waco yesterday.

Alfred Abbel has gone to New York and will be absent for a few weeks.

Eugene M. Campbell of Frankston, Texas, spent yesterday in this city.

S. J. Mings, a well known resident of Gatesville, was in Waco yesterday.

G. M. Cunningham, a prominent citizen of Houston, was visiting in the city yesterday.

M. J. Montgomery, a prominent resident of McGregor, was on the streets here yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Rotan and family have returned from a stay of several weeks in the east.

John H. Dillon of Gallatin, Tenn., formerly of Waco, is spending a few weeks here and meeting again with old friends.

S. S. Butler, southwestern representative of the Frisco lines, spent yesterday in this city, his headquarters being in Houston.

W. M. Pearson, assistant postmaster at Nacogdoches, is visiting his father, Grand Secretary Grand Lodge of Texas. Mr. Pearson reports that crops are excellent practically everywhere he has been in the state.

CITY NEWS BRIEFS

Fire partially destroyed a barn at the residence of Thomas A. Bledsoe, 1023 Austin street, last night. The fire department confined the loss to the roof of the building.

Peaches are coming in pretty freely, and are in most cases good ones. The crop this year, while not a bumper, is above the average and many are carrying the fruit and putting it away for use later.

Charles H. Morris will speak tonight at Dr. S. P. Brooks tomorrow night in this city. The people of Waco are having ample opportunity to make up their minds as to the claims and counter claims of candidates.

The civil service department of the government has been busier in the last few months than almost ever before in its history. The government is wanting many men, and the examinations are being held all over the country in an effort to develop and secure the men wanted.

Information reached here yesterday of the death of Dr. Burke Torbett, aged 30, in Nashville, Tenn. The deceased was a prominent young physician of that city and a cousin of W. C. Torbett of Waco. He had just completed a postgraduate course in medicine when stricken with typhoid fever.

Owing to the trial of the Driskell-Boyd case still being continued in the Seventy-fourth district court, the hearing of B. M. Goodman's application for an injunction against the city of Waco, set for today, has been postponed. Goodman seeks to enjoin the enforcement of an ordinance which would require white liquor houses to close at 9:30 p. m.

Officers Todd and Butts caught a middle-aged white man on Third and Mary streets yesterday while he was trying to inject a needle into his arm. The man had his needle charged for another injection when caught by the officers.

If the campaign which is to be staged in connection with the proposed Baptist sanitarium is successfully pulled off, which no doubt will be the case, then this new institution probably will be under construction within a short time. There has been ample time in which to investigate other hospitals, and there will be little delay on that score. With the Waco campaign a success building will soon follow.

"Do you know, it seems to me that the grade of watermelons has improved wonderfully in the last few years, and now nearly all the melons one buys are good," said a man yesterday. He said that all this shows what can be accomplished by works of art to the improvement of the grade of things which are raised on farms or truck gardens, and also shows that the farmers of Texas are rapidly taking advantage of the opportunities for improvement which lie about them.

This Is Last Week for Voters to Transfer

Secretary H. Hagedorn, secretary of the Young Men's Business League, called attention yesterday to the fact that this is the last week during which citizens may make transfers in the city wards in order to be able to vote in the primaries, July 22. This information is given out by the tax collector. The league is desirous of the city making a good showing in the total number of votes cast.

Local Deaths

Mrs. August Ziegler, aged 25 years, died at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon at Rock Creek, north of Bosqueville.

Mrs. Ziegler is survived by her husband and a little girl five years old. She had lived at or near the Rock Creek section nearly all her life; she was a Miss Reese before her marriage to August Ziegler.

The funeral will take place this afternoon about 4 o'clock, the exact hour not having been determined last night. Interment will be at the cemetery near Rock Creek.

WHY TOM CONNALLY?

SOME MORE PERTINENT POINTS.

In our issue of July 4, we spoke of the three-cornered congressional race in this district. We said that this race had entered into a new phase. This was more than a week ago.

At the present moment we are justified in saying that this spirited contest has entered upon another and seemingly final aspect. Ten days ago we spoke of the race as a triangular affair.

This is no longer true except in a nominal sense. It is absolutely certain that the Eleventh district is going to be represented by either a man from Falls county or a man from Bell county. McLennan county has had the distinction for the last twenty years, and before that Bell county was represented by Mr. Pendleton. Is it not Falls county's time to be represented?

A close investigation of the situation leaves little doubt that the good democratic doctrine of rotation is about to be exemplified in the matter of congressional honors.

The most interesting development of the last ten days has been the amazing growth of Connally in every part of the Eleventh district. A phenomenal crystallization of sentiment has occurred. From every voting box in the district we have received reliable information as to the growth of Tom Connally's candidacy.

We ask the voters to think before they vote. Last week we asked the question, "Which of the candidates best fitted by nature and training to lead this district?" It seems to us, considering the age and career of the candidates, that the only answer to this question is Tom Connally.

Last week we asked which of the aspirants for the honor would, if elected, be most likely to become a prominent man in the house. We ask you, your guide in answering this question, Mr. Voter, is in your conscience. Tom Connally is only 28 years old, his life has been rich in just that experience necessary to produce a successful congressman.

There are not in all the great state of Texas one-half dozen men who are the equal of Connally as a forerunner orator. Thousands of people all over the district have heard Mr. Connally on the stump, and in the court room, and there are very few who will deny these assertions. It will be worth something to the people of Waco and of the Eleventh district to be represented in congress by a man capable of attracting attention in the house of representatives.

Last week we asked this question:

"Which of the aspirants would be able to gain support for a measure which he advocated?" Again we ask you, Mr. Voter, to let your conscience direct you in this question.

You know that Connally in congress will not be a mere follower. You know that there is nothing of the mediocre about Tom Connally.

Last week we said, "Ask your lawyer which of the candidates would advocate himself best, as a lawyer, before the supreme court of the United States?" Did you do it?

If you did, the chances, Mr. Voter, are 10 to 1 that your lawyer (your lawyer knows) answered, "Tom Connally."

We, the friends of Tom Connally, desire to close this little screed with a few words.

Don't waste a vote in this critical hour in your nation's history.

A vote for Connally will count by increasing his large plurality.

Don't vote a complimentary vote.

Don't vote for a man purely for parochial reasons.

Votes for Tom Connally.

Don't vote for a man with a special interest behind him.

Vote for Tom Connally.

Vote for the man who is best fitted for the job.

You know that this man is Tom Connally.

Don't think that because this is a political advertisement this advice is not sound. It is. The very law of the eternal fitness of things demands that you vote for Tom Connally.—Political advertisement.

Big Watermelon Cutting Tonight on Baylor Campus

The customary Friday evening story hour will not be held on the Baylor campus this evening. Instead there will be a watermelon cutting for the students of the university and the faculty. This is one of the chief social events of the summer quarter and always proves very popular with the student body. Several hundred fine melons have been ice and prepared for the occasion.

Brief Summary of New Fox Film

The feature film, "Caprice of the Mountains," as produced by William Fox, tells the following story:

Caprice Talbert, a winsome maiden, lives with her father, a mountaineer, who desires her to marry Tim Baker, a coarse youth of the mountains. A stepmother is jealous of Caprice and makes her miserable for her. Caprice runs away from home.

On the road she meets a gay automobile party, among whom is Jack Edmonds (Harry S. Hilliard), grandson of a venerable artist who lives near Caprice's home.

Jack gives the girl a bundle and asks her to deliver it to his grandfather with a message. Mr. Edmonds tells Caprice a fairy story which opens her eyes to the beauties of the mountains around her home and induces her to return to her father's house.

Jack goes to his grandfather's mountain home for a hunting trip. Tim, the coarse mountaineer, endeavors to force his attentions upon Caprice, aided and abetted by her stepmother. Parental pressure is brought to bear and Caprice is about to be forced into a marriage with Tim. In the meantime, she has met Jack, whom she considers a "fairy prince." The night of the wedding arrives and Caprice again runs away from home. Jack follows, overtakes her and they eventually marry. But Caprice, unaccustomed to the ways of society, causes Jack great embarrassment and he resumes the fast life he led before meeting her. He gradually goes to ruin. Caprice leaves him and returns to her old home in the mountains. Jack again renounces his life of dissipation, turns over a new leaf, rejoins his young wife in the mountains and is introduced to his son and heir.

Quimet's Golf Club Loses Standing

Boston, July 13.—It was learned today that the Woodland Golf club of Newton, which supported 15 members, Francis Quimet, J. H. Sullivan, Jr. and Paul Tewksbury, who were declared ineligible to amateur standing by the United States Golf association, has been stricken from membership in the national body.

The club has held an associate membership in the national association and applied recently for active membership. Formal notification of the national body's action has been served upon club officials, but no reason for it has been given.

Quimet, Sullivan and Tewksbury were declared by the United States Golf association several months ago to have lost their amateur standing. Quimet and Sullivan are proprietors of a sporting goods house and Tewksbury is a salesman of such goods.

Battling Levinsky Outpoints Dillon

Baltimore, July 13.—Jack Dillon of Indianapolis and Battling Levinsky of New York, light heavyweights, fought a ten-round, no-decision bout at Oriole park here today. The New Yorker outpointed the Hoosier in all but the sixth round, in which Dillon had a shade the better of it, and in the fourth, which was even.

The bout originally was intended to go fifteen rounds to a decision, but the comparatively small attendance brought about a lengthy discussion between the battlers and promoters which resulted in a

A. R. MARKS BEGINS EXTENSIVE TOUR OF MILLINERY BUYING

Made necessary by the remarkable growth and success of the Marks Millinery company of this city, A. R. Marks has left for the eastern markets to spend about five weeks in selecting latest fashions in feminine head apparel. During the course of his purchasing tour, Mr. Marks will visit St. Louis, Chicago, Milwaukee and New York. The trip will mean that new goods will begin to arrive at the store daily.

Mr. Marks has extensive fashion correspondents in the big markets of the north and east and will devote much of his time to actual purchasing. He will also make a survey of the field with regard to introducing newer concepts in head-gear to the Waco customers.

The judicious selections and variety of millinery has resulted in a heavy business by this Waco concern, and the company feels that the influx of new materials and hats which will soon begin arriving as a result of the buying trip will be of especial interest to the hundreds of regular patrons and shoppers generally.

PALACE COLISEUM WILL BE ENLARGED

Plans for remodeling the Cotton Palace coliseum which will mean an increase in the seating capacity of approximately 22½ per cent over the present capacity were adopted at the meeting of the directors last night. The already large structure will have an extension of forty feet of the west side, according to the plans, and it is declared that the acoustic properties of the building will be greatly benefited. The stage will remain about the same dimensions and the same amount of dance floor space will be retained under the new plans. Milton W. Scott, architect of the enlargement, was present last night and explained them in detail. The building committee, with C. H. Cox as chairman, has the matter in charge. It is expected to begin construction work at an early date. The plans for additional stock barns having been approved, it was announced last night that work on the building, which is near the front of the exposition grounds, will be moved from its present location.

To fit into a policy of greater convenience and lightness, the dog show building, which is near the front of the exposition grounds, will be moved from its present location.

Speakers' Club Is Against Intervention in Mexico

The decision of the judges in the weekly debate of the Waco Speakers' club last night was against Uncle Sam intervening in troublesome Mexico. J. Ginsberg and Z. McCormick represented the affirmative and T. E. Leach and B. A. Goodman defended the negative. The question was stated, "Resolved, That the United States Should Intervene and Establish a Protectorate Over Mexico." A. C. Johnston was the orator of the evening, choosing "Mexico" as his theme. Mr. McCormick was given special mention for his discussion of the question.

The program committee announced the following program for the meeting next Thursday. C. R. Mitchell, orator, debated "Resolved, That the Fee System in McLennan County Should be Abolished." Affirmative, W. E. Lessing and Ferd S. Marrs; negative, C. H. Machen and Glenn Murray.

Wacoans Leave for Big Rotary Meet at Cincinnati

Waco will be represented at the International Rotary convention in Cincinnati, July 18-20, by five delegates, four of whom left yesterday morning.

Those leaving for Palestine yesterday to connect with the Rotary special de luxe were President F. L. Booth, Secretary H. M. Cox, W. T. Wheeler, delegate-elect, and W. W. Naman, representing the Y. M. B. L. and honorary member of the club. F. M. Fillmore preceded the party on a trip to the north and will join the Wacoans at the convention city. Mr. Meuse of the Beaumont club joined the Wacoans here. The local contingent will attempt to secure the election of J. M. Penland of Waco as district governor. Mr. Penland had hoped to attend the convention, but was unable to go on account of business demands.

Lake View Picnic Today Will Draw Many, It Is Expected

With the number of prominent speakers at Lake View today and the care with which arrangements have been made for the comfort of visitors, it is expected that there will be a large crowd at the picnic. The traction company announces that all of its cars will make this stop, which is just fifteen minutes out, and every effort will be made for the convenience of visitors.

The Dallas pike, which leads to the picnic grounds, will attract many. The Mothers' club of the Lake View school has provided barrels of ice cream and other comforts for those present, and there will be choice lunches and cold drinks at the stands. Sanger Bros' baseball team will play Speigleville, while the Goldstein-Miguel team will meet Chalk Bluff.

CITY NEWS BRIEFS

Fire partially destroyed a barn at the residence of Thomas McMullen, 1023 Austin street, last night. The fire department confined the loss to the roof of the building.

Peaches are coming in pretty freely, and in most cases good ones. The crop this year, while not a bumper, is above the average and many are canning the fruit and putting it away for use later.

Charles H. Morris will speak tonight and Dr. S. P. Brooks tomorrow night in this city. The people of Waco are having ample opportunity to make up their minds as to the claims and counter claims of candidates.

The civil service department of the government has been busy in the last twelve months than almost ever before in its history. The government is having prominent young physicians of that city and a cousin of W. C. Torbett of Waco. He had just completed a postgraduate course in medicine when stricken with typhoid fever.

Information reached here yesterday of the death of Dr. Burke Torbett, aged 30, in Nashville, Tenn. The deceased was a prominent young physician of Martin, a brother of Dr. J. W. Torbett of that city and a cousin of W. C. Torbett of Waco. He had just completed a postgraduate course in medicine when stricken with typhoid fever.

Owing to the trial of the Driskell-Royd case still being continued in the seventy-fourth district court, the hearing of R. M. Goodman's application for an injunction against the city of Waco, for today, has been postponed. Goodman seeks to enjoin the enforcing of an ordinance which would require wholesale liquor houses to close at 5:30 p. m.

Officers Todd and Butts caught a middle-aged white man on this morning's streets yesterday who, it was believed, had been drinking. The man had his needle charged for another injection when caught by the officers. His drug was both in powder form and in tablet. He claimed that he had secured the preparation at Mart.

B. K. Burnette, who rooms at the Y. M. C. A. building, was knocked unconscious for a few minutes yesterday afternoon when the motorcycle he was riding collided with an automobile at the corner of Fourteenth and Columbus streets. Burnette was carried to the Providence sanitarium, where a medical examination showed that there were no bones broken and only slight bruises. He suffered mostly from the shock.

Residents of this section were all bracing on the beautiful spring season, but the last two or three weeks, however, somewhat changed the tone and the tenor of what is being said about the weather. The thermometer has run pretty high part of the time and the heat has been peculiarly trying most all the time. The nights, however, have in most cases been reasonably cool, which is a saving condition for this part of the country.

If the campaign which is to be staged in connection with the proposed Baptist sanitarium is successfully pulled off, which no doubt will be the case, then this new institution probably will be under construction within a short time. There has been ample time in time to plan and decide what is wanted, so that there will be little delay on that score. With the Waco campaign a success building will soon follow.

"Do you know, it seems to me that the grade of watermelons has improved wonderfully in the last few years, and now nearly all the melons one buys are good," said a man yesterday. He said that all this shows what can be accomplished by working hard and the improvement of the grade of things which are raised on farms or truck gardens, and also shows that farmers of Texas are rapidly taking advantage of the opportunities for improvement which lie about them.

This Is Last Week for Voters to Transfer

Secretary H. Hagedorn, secretary of the Young Men's Business League, called attention yesterday to the fact that this is the last week during which citizens may make transfers in the city wards in order to be able to vote in the primaries, July 22. This information is given out by the tax collector. The league is desirous of the city making a good showing in the total number of votes cast.

Mrs. August Ziegler, aged 25 years, died at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon at Rock Creek, north of Bosqueville. Mrs. Ziegler is survived by her husband and a little girl five years old. She had lived at or near the Rock Creek section nearly all her life; she was a Miss Reese before her marriage to August Ziegler.

The funeral will take place this afternoon about 4 o'clock, the exact hour not having been determined last night. Interment will be at the cemetery near Rock Creek.

WHY TOM CONNALLY?

SOME MORE PERTINENT POINTS.

In our issue of July 4, we spoke of the three-cornered congressional race in this district. We said that this race had entered into a new phase. This was more than a week ago.

At the present moment we are justified in saying that this spirited contest has entered upon another and seemingly final aspect. Ten days ago we spoke of the race as a triangular affair.

This is no longer true except in a nominal sense. It is absolutely certain that the Eleventh district is going to be represented by either a man from Falls county or a man from Bell county. McLennan county has had the distinction for the last twenty years, before that Bell county was represented by Mr. Pendleton. Is it not Falls county's time to be represented?

A close investigation of the situation leaves little doubt that the good democratic doctrine of rotation is about to be exemplified in the matter of congressional honors.

The most interesting development of the last ten days has been the amazing growth of Connally in every part of the district. A phenomenon of the Eleventh district. A phenomenon of the growth of Tom Connally's candidacy.

We ask the voters to think before they vote. Last week we asked the question, "Which of the candidates is best fitted by nature and training to look after the interests of the people of this district?" It seems to us, considering the age and career of the candidates, that the only answer to this question is Tom Connally.

Last week we asked which of the aspirants for the honor would, if elected, be most likely to become a prominent man in the house. We ask you, Mr. Voter, to let your conscience be your guide in answering this question. Your guide in answering this question is Tom Connally.

There are not in all the great state of Texas one-half dozen men who are the equal of Connally as a forensic orator. Thousands of people all over the district have heard Mr. Connally on the stump, and in the court room, and there are very few who will deny these assertions. It will be worth something to the people of Waco and of the Eleventh district to be represented in congress by a man capable of attracting attention in the house of representatives.

MARKET REPORT

COTTON

New York, July 13.—A moderate early advance was followed by an easier turn in the cotton market during today's late trading, with October selling off from 12.98 to 12.89 and closing at 12.91. The general list closed at an advance of 1 point to a decline of 2 points.

The market opened steady at an advance of 4 to 5 points in response to relatively steady cables and after some little irregularity sold about 6 to 7 points net higher during the middle of the day. Offerings were restricted by uncertainty as to the probable course of the storm which was reported to be increasing in intensity in the Caribbean sea and prices were influenced by a comparatively light demand. Trade interests were among the buyers, but the bulk of the support seemed to come from covering by shorts, with the trade evidently disposed to wait for further developments in connection with the tropical storm possibilities or for some change in the spot situation. Offerings increased slightly around 12.15 for December and 12.20 for January, however, and the market turned easier during the afternoon under scattered liquidation.

The source of the selling suggested that it might have been influenced by the easier ruling of the stock market, but there also were rumors that a private crop report would be issued within a day or two and would show improvement in prospects since the end of last June. December eased off to 12.05, while January sold back to 12.11, with active months generally working 2 to 4 points under last night's closing figures. Closing prices were within a point or two of the lowest in many instances.

New Orleans.

New Orleans, July 13.—After a small advance in the morning session today, the cotton market fell off and closed at a net decline of 2 to 5 points, last prices being the lowest. Little business was done, features developing which restricted trading.

The market did better on the opening, cables being higher than expected but no great pressure to buy was created. The most active months were 2 to 6 points up in the early trading and 4 to 6 points up later in the morning. Continued rains in the eastern belt and the warning that a tropical storm was moving up in the general direction of the gulf of Mexico were the sustaining influences. After noon the trade took an unfavorable view of the rise in a bank of England rate and also paid some attention to reports that a private crop reporting bureau was coming out with a bearish semi-monthly report on condition.

WHEAT

Chicago, July 13.—Wheat scored fresh gains in value today owing largely to reports of a broadening European demand. The market, although unsettled at the close, was 1/2¢ net higher, with July at $1.01 1/2 and September at $1.11 1/2. In corn the outcome was 1/4¢ to 3/4¢ up, oats were down a shade to 1/4¢ and provisions were unchanged to 7/8¢ lower. Bulls in wheat made a confident start, influenced chiefly by dispatches from Liverpool admitting that enlargement of the call for shipments from America had been brought about as a result of misgivings concerning black rust danger in the Laotian and Minnesota. However, no actual damage from black rust was reported and this tended to cause a period of profit-taking. Corn reflected the strength of wheat. Unwelcome high temperatures and active demand from the seaboard tended to lift oats. Provisions gave way as a result of lack of support.

Prices ranged as follows today:
Wheat—Open, High, Low, Close.
July ..... 1.10 1.10 1.10 1.10 1/2

JAMES P. ALEXANDER
Believes in Dispatch in the Trial of Cases.

If James P. Alexander is elected county judge of McLennan county, he will give this county the best administration of its affairs that the county has ever had. He is a conservative business man with many years experience. He proposes to apply the same business principles to the administration of the county's affairs that he has always used, in handling his own affairs.

If there is any one thing that Mr. Alexander stands for above all else it is dispatch in the trial of cases. He says that it costs over $50.00 a day to operate our county courts and that the court ought never to be idle. Too much time is lost from the time a case is filed until it is tried and too much time is consumed in the trial of cases. Mr. Alexander has made a most strenuous campaign for this office, and we believe that any man who works as hard to get the office as he has worked will be diligent in performing the duties of the office.—Political Advertisement.

Corporal Torrence Has Served His Enlistment

Corporal Dick Torrence of company K, Texas National Guard, has returned back for duty again, as the three years for which he enlisted have expired, and he did not re-enlist.

Corporal Torrence went with the Waco companies when they entrained for the Mexican border, and has been there since that time. His brother, Captain William Torrence, is still in the service. Both young men are the sons of Chief Torrence of Waco, one of the best known and most justly popular men of the community.

TOM McCULLOUGH

Did you know that Tom McCullough was city attorney of Waco four years? During that time he had occasion to write many ordinances and take an active part in administrative affairs of a growing city.

Did you know that Tom McCullough was county judge of McLennan county four years and during that time saved the tax payers $45,000, reduced the tax rate one-fourth and saw $141,000 of the county indebtedness paid off?

Did you know that the people of McLennan county as district judge, having served faithfully and capably in this capacity for practically four years and his rulings have stood the acid test?

Did you know that the supreme court has never reversed a single case tried before Judge McCullough?

Did you know that of the candidates for congress, Tom McCullough has taken part and actively supported more of the larger public movements for the upbuilding of Central Texas than any of his opponents?

Tom McCullough has had a range of experience in public life and affairs that ideally equips him for the high honor sought; he is a citizen of true worth and value, he was born in this district, in Falls county, is well and favorably known throughout the district, is in thorough sympathy with the needs and interests of the masses and will make a congressman truly representative of the Eleventh Congressional district of Texas.

Vote for Tom McCullough for Congress on July 22.

Dr. Carl Lovelace Will Address Red Cross Class Today

Dr. Carl Lovelace will address the Red Cross nurse class at the regular lecture hour from 5 to 6 o'clock this afternoon at the chapter headquarters on Austin street. Dr. W. C. Crosthwaite will speak at the class hour next Tuesday. All members enrolled are expected to be present and other women interested are invited to join.

Bill Oglesby, Former Wacoan, Is Dead

Bill Oglesby, well known in this city and entire section, for whom the town of Oglesby, in Coryell county, on the Cotton Belt, was named, and who lived in McGregor and Waco for awhile a good many years ago, was buried yesterday at Oglesby, death having resulted from the kick of a horse.

Mr. Oglesby was living at Stephenville, Erath county, at the time he was kicked by the horse, and as he was probably about 75 years old, the injuries proved too much for him. He lived in Waco about twenty-five years ago, and for a good while looked after the old suspension bridge before it was made a free bridge.

He was a well known horseman, and it was singular that he should have come to his death in this manner after "breaking" and handling as many animals as he had. He leaves a son, Frank Oglesby, in McGregor, and his other son, Lawrence, was with him in Stephenville when he died.

CITY ACCEPTS CHANGE IN INTERURBAN NAME

RECOGNITION MADE OF BIG FRANCHISE HOLDER—TO MOVE HYDRANTS FOR WHITE WAY.

City Dads Will Insist on Strict Adherence to Hog Regulations in Waco.

The passing out of the Southern Traction company and the ushering in of the Texas Electric Railway company, insofar as Waco is concerned, was noted at the meeting yesterday morning of the city commission, and the commissioners unanimously voted recognition and privileges to the new concern.

The matter of moving fire hydrants on Austin street from Third to Ninth streets, to make place for the standards of the proposed white way, received attention at the meeting, this being another step in the white way matter.

The commission expressed its determination to have the hog ordinance recently passed, rigidly enforced, and residents are expected to comply immediately now, warning having been given that the ordinance is effective. Mayor John Dolins, Commissioners Cockcroft, Harlow, Richards and Stump, City Secretary John C. Davis and City Attorney John Maxwell were all present at the meeting yesterday. It was decided to inspect Clay street from Seventeenth to Twenty-first, after the commission adjourned, with a view to giving it attention at once. Fire Commissioner Ben Richards recommended that certain fire hose recently purchased be not accepted, claiming it did not come up to the sample from which it was purchased. City Electrician E. F. Copley presented a communication regarding moving the fire hydrants from street corners on Austin street, so the white way standards can be placed in the right position, on the street corners. This was referred to Commissioner Richards.

A request for repairs on North Tenth street from Vermont to Baker street, was presented by Prof. I. N. Odom. Residents on that street agreed to build sidewalks if the street is fixed. Referred to Street Commissioner J. F. Stump.

An application was made by the Texas Electric Railway company, which is the successor of the Southern Traction company and the Texas Traction company, asking consent of the city commission to merge the interests in this city, and asking that in taking the step that the Texas Electric Railway company be granted the rights, privileges, franchises, etc., of the Southern Traction company. This was unanimously agreed to by the city commission.

The sworn statement of Mrs. Mollie E. Streeter was presented, regarding injuries she received from a fall on Austin street between Fourth and Fifth streets. This was referred to City Attorney John Maxwell.

The report of the city engineer on the grading and graveling of South Fifteenth street from Clay to Dutton, was received, read and filed. Commissioner W. H. Cockcroft suggested that arrangements should be made on machines for dimming the lights in cases where the glare of the light is calculated to cause accidents, and he also suggested that regulations as to tail lights and all that should be rigidly enforced.

The commission went on record as favorable to the absolute enforcement of the hog law which has been passed, and the regulations will be binding on all immediately.

Body of W. C. Kellum of Beeville Will Be Buried Here

William C. Kellum, known as "Bud" Kellum among his friends, died yesterday morning at Beeville, and the funeral will take place in Waco.

William Kellum was a son of the late W. R. Kellum, one of the early citizens of this community, a member of the pioneer firm of Kellum & Rotan, and has for the past few years been living in Beeville. He has been an invalid for some time, but was always cheerful and hopeful, and had friends all over this section. At one time he was engaged in the mercantile business in Waco, and was an extensive dealer in real estate. Of late years he has been writing insurance.

Besides his daughter, Mrs. Terry Hays, Mr. Kellum is survived by a son, Kenneth Kellum of San Antonio; he also has a sister here, Mrs. Emma K. Falkner, and two brothers, Parker Kellum of Valley Mills and J. R. Kellum. The relatives will have the sympathy of many friends in their loss, and there are many friends of Will Kellum who will shed a sympathetic tear to his memory, for he was ever true to his friends.

The funeral will be held here, as stated, but the John Fall Undertaking company, who have charge of the arrangements, have not yet been notified just when the remains will arrive.

Second Primary Plan Meets With Approval

The close contests which have been staged in the political arena, which surrounds Waco has had the effect of causing more discussion than ever before regarding the advisability of holding double primaries in all cases where some one of the candidates fail to secure a majority of all votes cast. One Waco man said yesterday that the sentiment in favor of the second primaries has undoubtedly been strengthened greatly by the conditions which exist, and that many men were openly avowing that they favor a majority vote in all cases from constable to president.

It is argued that while the second dates it is unquestionably a great safeguard for the public, and that in reality it is a safeguard for the best men who are in the contests, as in the second race such men ought to have a better chance to win out.

More Night Sprinklers Placed in Service

Not only are two sprinklers at work in the south portion of the city, but two have been put to work at night in the north portion, the intention being to get the streets under better control, so that the daylight sprinkling will bear better results.

With four sprinklers running eight hours each at night and with the other sprinklers running full time during the day, it is believed that quite a difference will be noted in the streets of the city in a short time. The evaporation at night is so much less that the difference is expected to be marked.

It was stated yesterday by Health Commissioner W. H. Cockcroft that he expects to secure good returns from the night sprinkling plan.

JAMES P. ALEXANDER
Believes in Dispatch in the Trial of Cases.

If James P. Alexander is elected county judge of McLennan county, he will give this county the liveliest administration of its affairs that the county has ever had. He is a conservative business man with many years experience. He proposes to apply the same business principles to the administration of the county's affairs that he has always used, in handling his own affairs.

If there is any one thing that Mr. Alexander stands for above all else it is dispatch in the trial of cases. He says that it costs over $50.00 a day to operate our county courts and that the court ought never to be idle. Too much time is lost from the time a case is filed until it is tried and too much time is consumed in the trial of cases.

Mr. Alexander has made a most strenuous campaign for this office, and we believe that any man who works as hard to get the office as he has worked will be diligent in performing the duties of the office.—Political Advertisement.

Corporal Torrence Has Served His Enlistment

Corporal Dick Torrence of company K, Texas National Guard, has returned home, and will not be required to report back for duty again, as the three years for which he enlisted have expired, and he did not re-enlist.

Corporal Torrence went with the Waco companies when they were trained for the Mexican border, and has been there since that time. His brother, Captain William Torrence, is still in the service. Both young men are the sons of Cliff Torrence of Waco, one of the best known and most justly popular men of the community.

TOM McCULLOUGH.

Did you know that Tom McCullough was city attorney of Waco four years? During that time he had occasion to write many ordinances and take an active part in administrative affairs of a growing city.

Did you know that Tom McCullough was county judge of McLennan county four years and during that time saved the tax payers $45,000, reduced the tax rate one-fourth and saw $141,000 of the county indebtedness paid off?

Did you know that Tom McCullough has served the people of McLennan county as district judge, having served faithfully and capably in this capacity for practically four years and his rulings have stood the acid test?

Did you know that the supreme court has never reversed a single case tried before Judge McCullough?

Did you know that of the candidates for congress, Tom McCullough has taken part and actively supported more of the larger public movements for the upbuilding of Central Texas than any of his opponents?

Tom McCullough has had a range of experience in public life and affairs that ideally equips him for the high honor sought; he is a citizen of true worth and value; he was born in this district, in Falls county, is well and favorably known throughout the district, is in thorough sympathy with the needs and interests of the masses and will make a congressman truly representative of the Eleventh Congressional district of Texas.

Vote for Tom McCullough for Congress on July 22.

Dr. Carl Lovelace Will Address Red Cross Class Today

Dr. Carl Lovelace will address the Red Cross nurse class at the regular lecture hour from 5 to 6 o'clock this afternoon at the chapter headquarters on Austin street. Dr. W. C. Crosthwaite will speak at the class hour next Tuesday. All members enrolled are expected to be present and other women interested are invited to join.

Bill Oglesby, Former Wacoan, Is Dead

Bill Oglesby, well known in this city and entire section, for whom the town of Oglesby, in Correll county, on the Cotton Belt, was named, and who lived in McGregor and Waco for awhile a good many years ago, was buried yesterday at Oglesby, death having resulted from the kick of a horse.

Mr. Oglesby was living at Stephenville, Erath county, at the time he was kicked by the horse, and as he was probably about 75 years old, the injuries proved too much for him. He lived in Waco about twenty-five years ago, and for a good while looked after the old suspension bridge before it was made a free bridge.

He was a well known horseman, and it was singular that he should have come to his death in this manner after "breaking" and handling as many animals as he had. He leaves a son, Frank Oglesby, in McGregor, and his other son, Lawrence, was with him in Stephenville when he died.

CITY ACCEPTS CHANGE IN INTERURBAN NAME

RECOGNITION MADE OF BIG FRANCHISE HOLDER—TO MOVE HYDRANTS FOR WHITE WAY.

City Dads Will Insist on Strict Adherence to Hog Regulations in Waco.

The passing out of the Southern Traction company and the ushering in of the Texas Electric Railway company, insofar as Waco is concerned, was noted at the meeting yesterday morning of the city commission, and the commissioners unanimously voted recognition and privileges to the new concern.

The matter of moving fire hydrants on Austin street from Third to Ninth streets, to make place for the standards of the proposed white way, received attention at the meeting, this being another step in the white way matter.

The commission expressed its determination to have the hog ordinance, recently passed, rigidly enforced, and residents are expected to comply immediately now, warning having been given that the ordinance is effective.

Mayor John Dilline, Commissioners Cockerell, Harlow, Richards and Stamp, City Secretary John C. Davis and City Attorney John Maxwell were all present at the meeting yesterday. It was decided to inspect Clay street from Seventeenth to Twenty-first, after the commission adjourned, with a view to giving it attention at once.

Fire Commissioner Ben Richards recommended that certain fire hose recently purchased be not accepted, claiming it did not come up to the sample from which it was purchased.

City Electrician E. F. Copley presented a communication regarding moving the fire hydrants from street corners on Austin street, so the white way standards can be placed in the right position, on the street corners. This was referred to Commissioner Richards.

A request for repairs on North Tenth street from Vermont to Baker street, was presented by Prof. I. N. Odum. Residents on that street agreed to build sidewalks if the street is fixed.

Referred to Street Commissioner J. P. Stamp.

An application was made by the Texas Electric Railway company, which is the successor of the Southern Traction company and the Texas Traction company, asking consent of the city commission to merge the interests in this city, and asking that in taking the step that the Texas Electric Railway company be granted the rights, privileges, franchises, etc., of the Southern Traction company. This was unanimously agreed to by the city commission.

The sworn statement of Mrs. Mollie E. Streeter was presented, regarding injuries she received from a fall on Austin street between Fourth and Fifth streets. This was referred to City Attorney John Maxwell.

The report of the city engineer on the grading and graveling of South Fifteenth street from Clay to Dutton, was received, read and filed.

Commissioner W. H. Cockerell suggested that arrangements should be made on machines for dimming the lights in cases where the glare of the light is calculated to cause accidents, and he also suggested that regulations as to tail lights and all that should be rigidly enforced.

The commission went on record as favorable to the absolute enforcement of the hog law which has been passed, and the regulations will be binding on all immediately.

Body of W. C. Kellum of Beeville Will Be Buried Here

William C. Kellum, known as "Bud" Kellum among his friends, died yesterday morning at Beeville, and the funeral will take place in Waco.

William Kellum was a son of the late W. R. Kellum, one of the early citizens of this community, a member of the pioneer firm of Kellum & Rotan, and has for the past few years been living in Beeville. He has been an invalid for some time, but was always cheerful and hopeful, and had friends all over this section.

At one time he was engaged in the mercantile business in Waco, and was an extensive dealer in real estate. Of late years he has been writing insurance.

Besides his daughter here, Mrs. Terry Hays, Mr. Kellum is survived by a son, Kenneth Kellum of San Antonio; he also has a sister here, Mrs. Emma K. Fawcett, and two brothers, Parker Kellum of Valley Mills and J. R. Kellum. The relatives will have the sympathy of many friends in their loss, and there are many friends of Will Kellum who will shed a sympathetic tear to his memory, for he was ever true to his friends.

The funeral will be held here, as stated, but the John Paul Undertaking company, who will have charge of the arrangements, have not yet been notified just when the remains will arrive.

Second Primary Plan Meets With Approval

The close contests which have been staged in the political arena which surrounds Waco has had the effect of causing more discussion than ever before regarding the advisability of holding double primaries in all cases where some one of the candidates fail to secure a majority of all votes cast.

One Waco man said yesterday that the sentiment in favor of the second primaries has undoubtedly been strengthened greatly by the conditions which exist, and that many men were openly avowing that they favor a majority vote in all cases from onstant to present.

It is argued that while the second primary is a hardship on the candidates, it is unquestionably a great safeguard for the public, and that in reality it is a safeguard for the best men who are in the contests, as in the second race such men ought to have a better chance to win out.

More Night Sprinklers Placed in Service

Not only are two sprinklers at work in the south portion of the city, but two have been put to work at night in the north portion, the intention being to get the streets under better control,

so that the daylight sprinkling will bear better results.

With four sprinklers running eight hours each at night and with the other sprinklers running full time during the day, it is believed that quite a difference will be noted in the streets of the city in a short time. The evaporation at night is so much less that the difference is expected to be marked.

It was stated yesterday by Health Commissioner W. H. Cockerell that he expects to secure good returns from the night sprinkling plan.
